Letter from the Adviser

When I was student teaching, there was a teacher here who would proclaim, "You came back!" each morning when she would see me walk in. At first I wondered why she would say something like that..."You came back!" Was it not expected that I would come back? The saying soon become our standard morning greeting. I have borrowed that same saying as well as her sentiments each morning with my students. "You came back! That is wonderful! I am so happy to see you!" Every day we make the choice to get out of bed and walk through the doors of Penn High School, we are back. We are able to get up and 'come back' after a disappointment and we are happy to 'get back' home after a challenging tournament a long bus ride away. Penn students 'give back' to the community in a plethora of ways throughout the year, and we are perpetually on a quest to 'take back' a title or a trophy that we may have held once, but want to hold again. We like to dig through the past and 'throw back' to see how far we have come. I hope you enjoy this 'look back' through our past year together and remember both the good times as well as the struggles you've overcome.

Letter from the Editors

Back in Black is a theme that meant a lot to both of us as editors. Aside from the iconic song by AC/DC, Back in Black makes a bold statement. It's our second year as editors of Bittersweet, and we are back and better than before, and we wanted to make that clear. To most people, the yearbook is a collection of memories that is fun to look at every once in awhile, but for the yearbook staff, it symbolizes an entire year's hard work. All the blood, sweat, and even tears shed over this book are finally over and done with. This book represents a group of students who work tirelessly behind the scenes, just so you could read this page. This book is a snapshot of what it was like to live in Mishawaka in 2016 and allows this year to live on forever. The color black is an important part of our theme as well. Not only is it one of our school colors, but it is a color that symbolizes power and status. It can be reserved or make an impact. We wanted our book to look clean cut and consistent, showing how far we've come as a staff. The arrows all over the pages represent our commitment to keep moving forward. We want progress to continuously be made and for our book to get better and better each year. This year we are Back in Black, and we are better than ever.

Rachel Page and Jenna Coffel, Editors.

SUMMER

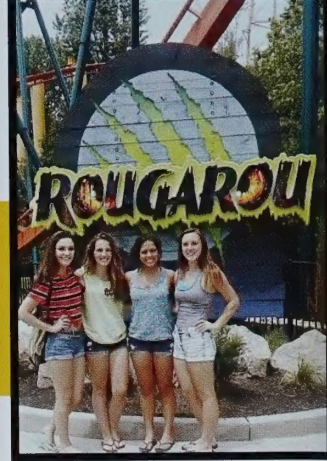

R & FALL.

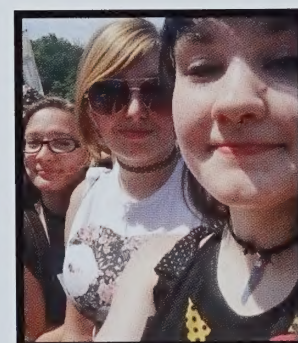

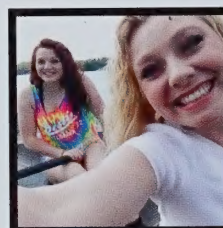

Seniors Emma Henderson and Victoria Ducoffe enjoy a warm summer night at a concert together.

Seniors Emily Boswoth and Ben Tadevich celebrate the Fourth of July with sparklers!

Seniors Kaylee Pennington, Christopher Hunt, Aalyssa Zebell, and Grace Jozwiak spend time at local park.

Back to the Beach.

A summer to never forget.

Who doesn't love summer? Our schedules slow down a bit for the summer months, and Penn students took advantage of the warmer weather and leisurely pace to catch up doing the things we need and love to do. Summer classes let us catch up on graduation requirements in the mornings with time afterwards for summer jobs or relaxing with friends. Many students played sports on traveling teams, while some spent July and August in the Main parking lot prepping for home football games and Marching Band competitions. Color Guard was right there with them, twirling in the sunshine.

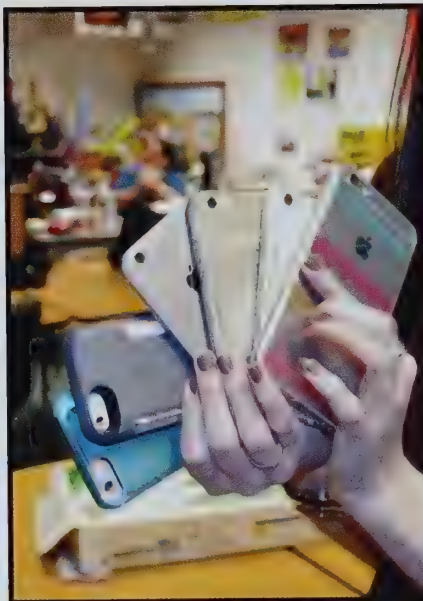

Besides sleeping in and sitting around with friends, students trekked to amusement parks like Cedar Point, Six Flags, and Michigan Adventure. Some caught air at the skate park while others caught a fly at the ballpark. A popular destination is always a day at one of our many beaches as others play at our area lakes. Students also attended music festivals such as Bunbury and Lollapalooza. Incoming Seniors took advantage of summer to visit colleges and plan for the future.

Vacations and traveling are cherished experiences during summer, since it is much harder to do these things during the school year. We pack our cars and road trip as others find themselves collecting stamps on their passports. Penn students also go on mission trips with their churches, theater groups, and families. We want to make a difference in the world and we love to help others.

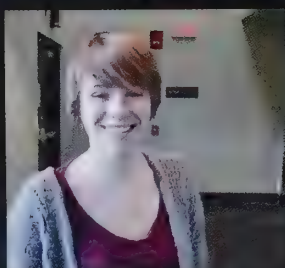

Overall, Penn students did many fun things and made it a summer to never forget!

HEY! DO YOU REMEMBER...

So much can happen in one year. Three hundred and sixty-five days may seem like a long time when we are sitting at a desk plowing through homework, but it is a mere blink-of-an-eye in the context of history. This school year was no exception. The full impact of some of the major historical events that took place during the 2015 - 2016 school year will not be realized until years later. Immediately after the terrorist attacks in Paris in November, we felt unsteady, vulnerable. We don't know all of the ripple effects of this event, but they are still pulsing, whether it be international refugee resettlement policies or the loss of personal freedoms for the sake of security or leading to another war. The outcome of the 2016 Presidential Election will have a huge impact on how we live, from what kind of an education system we have, to healthcare, to how we are going to pay for the services we expect. Culturally, we still like entertainment. Amusements like movies and sports and Hollywood gossip were still popular, but even those outlets suggest a shift in our collective values and priorities. One thing is constant, though, and that is we are always changing and adapting.

Breaking News from 2015

1. ISIS Paris Attacks

On November 13, three teams of terrorists planned attacks at six different locations throughout Paris, including a concert hall, the Stade de France, and two restaurants, killing 130 people and wounding 352. While this act of terror brought France temporarily to its knees, the world united in a blue, white, and red show of support. Sadly, this was not the last—the final six weeks of 2015 saw terrorists strike in Nigeria, Mali, Egypt, and San Bernardino, CA, and 2016 began with another attack in Brussels, Belgium.

2. Same-Sex Marriage Becomes the Law of the Land

In a 5-4 ruling on June 26, the Supreme Court established a new civil right allowing same sex couples to seek a marriage license, making the US the 21st country to legalize gay marriage. Many people gathered—some to protest and call for an amendment banning gay marriage, while others celebrated this landmark moment in history. The White House was even illuminated in rainbow lighting following the decision.

3. Confederate Flag removed from the SC Statehouse

From 1962 to July 10, 2015, the Confederate flag has flown over the statehouse in South Carolina, but that all changed this summer. Removing the flag sparked controversy between people who felt that the flag was a symbol of our history and those who view the flag as a symbol of racial division. The flag is down, but the dialog continues.

4. Back to the Future

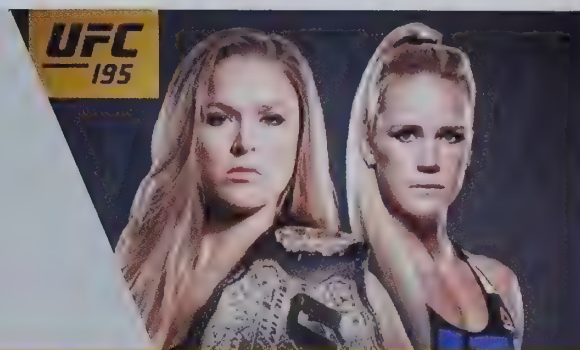

In 'Back to the Future II,' Marty McFly was sent 30 years into the future. The date? October 21, 2015. An age, according to the film, when people traveled on hoverboards and wore self-lacing shoes. Now, hoverboards did make their debut this year, but they are not quite as cool as the ones in the movie, and we have yet to experience self-lacing shoes.

5. Holly Holm Vs. Ronda Rousey

During the UFC main event this past November in Melbourne, Australia, underdog Holly Holm won with a headkick KO to the head of favored Ronda Rousey in the second round. Holly finished the fight with 38 strikes, while Ronda finished with a total of 21 strikes. The consolation prize? She got to host Saturday Night Live a few months later.

6. Election Debates

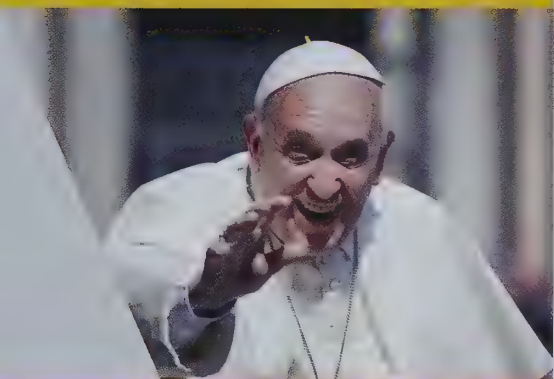

One thing that distinguishes this election from years past is the number of candidates running. The Republicans boast a roster of sixteen candidates led by business tycoon Donald Trump and Texas senator Ted Cruz, while the Democratic Party featured front runner Hillary Clinton and Senator Bernie Sanders. Debate topics ranged from education, gun control, and immigration, the rhetoric becoming contentious at times.

7. Pope visits

Pope Francis visited America for six days in September to speak with Catholics and non-Catholics as he pleaded for environmental stewardship and compassion for immigrants and the poor. He addressed Congress and met with individuals seeking an audience with him. His visit followed a three day stop in Cuba, drawing thousands together to celebrate Mass.

8. Syrian Refugees in America

Thirty-one US governors have said that they will block settlement of Syrian Refugees in their states because they pose too much of a risk to national security. This declaration was a reaction to the discovery that one of the terrorists in the Paris attacks made his way into Europe hidden among a wave of refugees. It was also in response to the White House claiming that the US, in order to lessen the burden on European countries, would increase the number of refugees accepted from 1,500 to up to 10,000.

9. Cecil the lion

In Zimbabwe, a well-known male lion named Cecil was lured away from a sanctuaried park and killed illegally by a Minneapolis big game hunter and dentist named Dr. Walter James Palmer. Condemnation quickly went global, spreading from media outlets to the doors of his practice, causing him to temporarily close his doors and go into hiding. This event cast a spotlight on the sometimes tense relationship between big game hunting and conservation.

This past summer, 11 students from Penn High School went abroad to participate in the IUHPFL Summer program of 2015. This selective program takes students from all over Indiana to speak only the foreign language of their choice. They attended school, have fun afterschool activities and best of all they make the best memories with their host families. One thing is for sure: IUHPFL is an unforgettable experience.

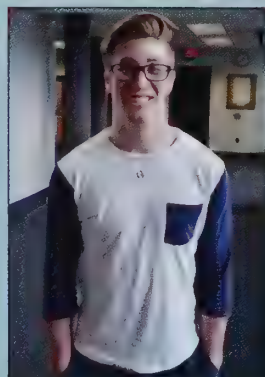

2015 Alumni

Julia Clauss, Austria

I got to see an Egon Schiele exhibit at an art museum in Vienna. He is one of my favorite artists and I had no idea that his work was in that museum so it was a great surprise.

Alec Bulger, Austria

My most fun memory was probably having some of us from the group go above this mall and eat pizza on the roof overlooking the whole town. It was called area 5.

Jordan Mosser, Austria

My first weekend in the mountains with my host family, a moth flew in an open window. My host sisters began to freak as it flew around the room. Minutes later, (I caught it, no one else would go near) I walked to the window, chucked it outside, and said "tschüss schmetterling" (bye moth).

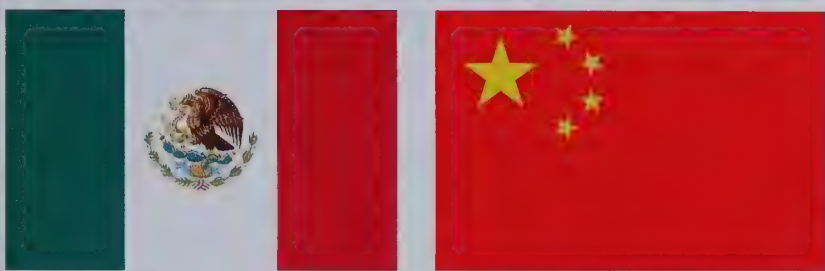

Jack Hollowell, Austria

My favorite memory has to be when my host mom brought me to the music college where she worked to listen to a bunch of really fantastic orchestra ensembles and jazz sets. In those moments I really got a feel for the amazing music culture in Austria.

Meilyn McVeigh, Austria

I think the best take away I got was an increase in my German ability and a deeper understanding of another culture.

MERIDA, MEXICO

HANGZSHAU, CHINA

Just spending time with my friends around the city was really fun.

Camille Arnette, France
A memory that will stay with me forever was staying in a hostel in Normandy. A group of us went to the beach to watch the sunset.

Josh Leady, Spain
Living in such a rural life at an altitude where you literally are IN the clouds in the morning is just such a unique and transcending and unforgettable experience.

Eric Pfrender, Chile
It is an amazing way to see what life is like outside of the United States, in order to more fully embrace what it means to be a global citizen and to empathize effectively with people who are not from the US.

Ameillia Rodrigex, Chile
Coolest experience: the night that Chile won La Copa America and you could hear the celebrating horns and cries all throughout the Viña.

Why did you want to be an exchange student?

Why did you choose to come to America?

How many years of English did you have before arriving here?

Where is the coolest place you have been in the USA?

"I've always loved the US."

I wanted to have a sample of American life this year. It means great experience, knowing other cultures, fun.

I have studied English for 11 years (but the first 5 weren't real study, but only an "introduction" to English language).

I enjoyed Manhattan!"

-Alessandro Manta (12)

"I think that speaking another language other than the one you are used to speaking is a way of pushing yourself."

I wanted to live the American dream: Football, Prom ... and speak English fluently, make new friends, and discover American culture.

I've studied English for 8 years.

I've been to NYC and Chicago and I loved them both!"

-Aziliz Dubouays (12)

"Becoming an exchange student for me means: Experience the American life; Become independent and gain confidence; Improve my English; Make new friends. This year, I'll not only gain experience but also get great opportunities for my future working. It'll prepare me for being on my own and getting away from home."

I chose America because it is my favorite country.

I started learning English in third grade.

The coolest place I have been is New York City."

-Anna Raubach (12)

"I wanted to be an exchange student because I wanted to have a new experience and to try to live a completely different life."

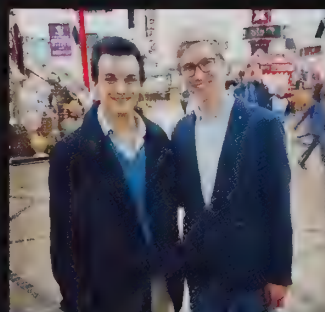

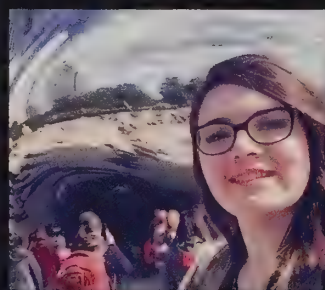

I came to America because it is a country of variety and they speak English which is the only other language that I speak fluently.

I studied English for 9 years now.

I celebrated Christmas in Florida one time, and we went to Disney World. It was fun!"

-Tobias Velle (12)

The Time Of Our Lives

"10 months of your exchange life will be with YOU forever."

When I say "Travel," what does that mean for you?

Would you like to accomplish something special before returning to your country? What would it be?

What do you miss the most from your country?

What is your favorite thing here?

"When I hear 'Travel', I think 'Big', because there are important and wonderful things to see in other countries.

I want to speak English fluently. I want to go to the Grand Canyon, Disneyland, study American culture, and I want to make friends.

I really miss my family.

I like shopping and eating at Americans restaurants."

-Sana Shimizu (12)

"Travel to me does not just mean going on vacation. It means going somewhere new, perhaps to live, and experience new cultures.

Before I go back (don't want to think about it), I would like to be able to call myself American, make life-long friendships, experience something I will never forget, and perhaps learn more about myself.

Norwegian chocolate, candy, and (healthier) food.

My friends, I feel like I have an extended family here, and I feel "oh so popular!"

-Dennis Widlic (12)

"For me, 'Travel' is going somewhere with family or friends to have fun and to see something new.

I'm not expecting to do anything special. I just try to see as many places as possible here.

I miss the bread from my country.

I really like the food here."

-Lilian Gueber (12)

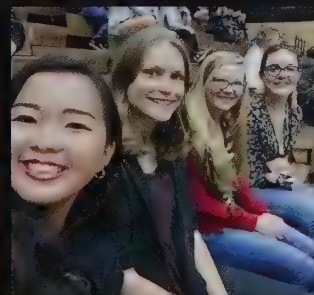

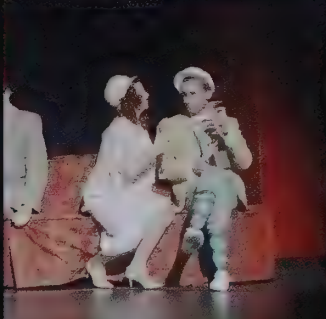

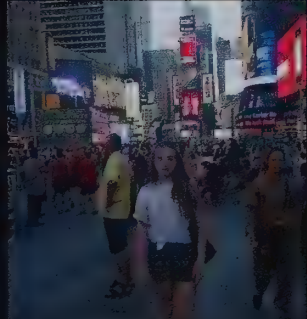

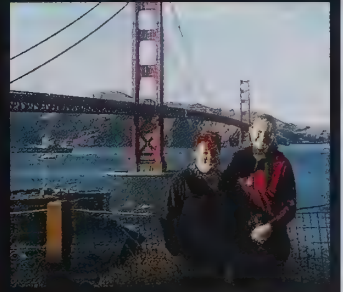

"Travel to me means going out and see the world, and finding new adventures.

I'm not expecting a lot of things, just getting new friends.

I miss my mom and my younger sister, because we had a very strong bond, and I miss that.

My favorite thing here is my friends at school. They are really nice and good friends."

-Tobias Petersen (12)

Falling Back.

Penn students participate in dressing up for Halloween this year. The guidance student assistant team all dressed up to be Incredibles.

Penn High School in 2012 is falling back into the rhythm of homework, assignments, and studying for exams. Speaking of exams, PSATs, SATs, ACTs, and finals are filling up the calendar. National Honors Society applications are due on the 18th of December. All of this stress that comes with a busy schedule is settling in as we prepare for scheduling and college applications. Fun-filled clubs are underway and auditions for plays are happening after school in the CPA. Drama club performed two spectacular plays, "Devout the Show" and "The Great Gatsby." Marching Kingsmen marched their hearts out at state earning 7th place! Girls' Varsity Soccer and the Boys' Varsity Football both were state runner ups. Volleyball, soccer, golf, tennis, and football games fill our free time. Fundraising is a big part of fall for sports, clubs, and organizations, but probably the most fun things about fall are the bonfires, making smores, taking leaves, and busting out Halloween decorations.

Viva Voce took a relaxing weekend trip at fall break over to Amish Acres for rehearsal and team bonding.

These four Juniors got all pinked out for one of the last home games for the Penn Football team! GO PENN

We Are Back 🍎

"I was extremely late the first day of school! The first person I saw was Tiwin Chackocham. I like French 4 because I like the people in the class. AP Econ is my worst class. I wasn't excited at all on the first day; it's sad because it's Senior year and it's stressful. But I like seeing my friends again and the football games. Senior year is my favorite year."

-Suzie Miley (12)

"The first people I saw at school were a group of kids in the band hallway. I was excited to come back and finish off my high school career. My favorite class is Physics because the teacher is awesome.

My hardest class is Pre-Calculus. Freshman was for sure the easiest year."

-Emily Lang (12)

"The first person I saw at school was Suzie Miley. My favorite class is French 4. We have so much fun and I love the teacher. My hardest class is ACP Calculus- it goes very fast. I was excited to come back because it's Senior year! I mostly enjoy my classes this year."

-Tiwin Chackochan (12)

Penn students are always hyped for football games. The Penn Student Section kicked off this season with a Hawaiian theme. We continued the year showing our school spirit with U.S.A., Penn spirit, pink out, and a Halloween theme.

Everyone went crazy when Penn beat Carmel making us able to go to state!

Rowdy Kingsmen look forward all week to packing Freed Field to cheer on The Wild Bunch to another victory.

Senior Quotes

Lucy Bowers

"The past four years have flown by, and I am really sad to see it come to an end. I will miss being a part of the team and competing in matches."

Cassidy Jurkaites

"Being a part of the Penn Girls Golf family for the last four years has been a blessing. I will never forget our bus dance parties and team bonding dinners."

State was quite memorable for the Lady Kingsmen. Ending the tournament in 11th place was a respectable accomplishment and experience for competitors Cassidy Jurkaites, Lucy Bowers, Abigail Hamilton, Kristin Holt, Madeline Meyer, and Nadia Sandler.

"The most important shot is the next one."

This is how we roll. This season, the girls finished with a solid 14-6 record and 12-0 conference record. Their success was beyond what they could have imagined when the season began, winning the NIC, Sectional, and Regional titles. The Regionals score of 315 was the best tournament Penn played in this year. At the State Tournament, Cassidy Jurkaites, Lucy Bowers, Abigail Hamilton, Kristin Holt, Madeline Meyer, and Nadia Sandler all competed for Penn and finished in 11th place. Coach Dominic Demeter proudly discussed the success of this season, saying, "Taking these girls to state was something I will never forget." The girls practiced really hard all year long playing in many summer tournaments learning to work together and hone their skills. Cassidy Jurkaites especially stood out this season with all of her hard work, being named two-time First Team All State. As Coach Demeter wraps up his thoughts and conclusions to this season, he stated "They are such a joy to coach, and to see all of their hard work pay off was an experience beyond words."

-Edgar Botello (11)

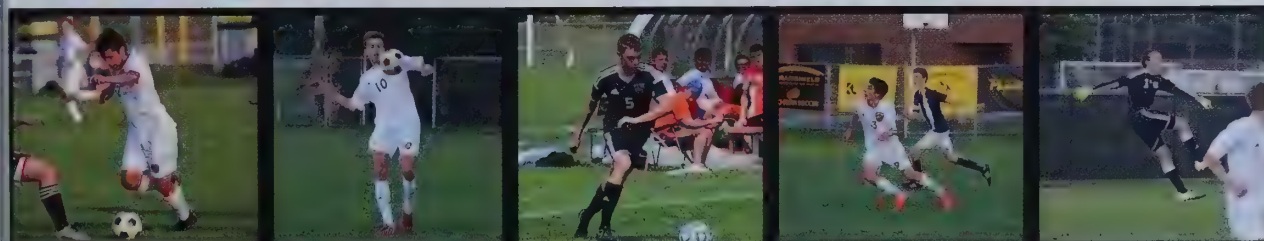

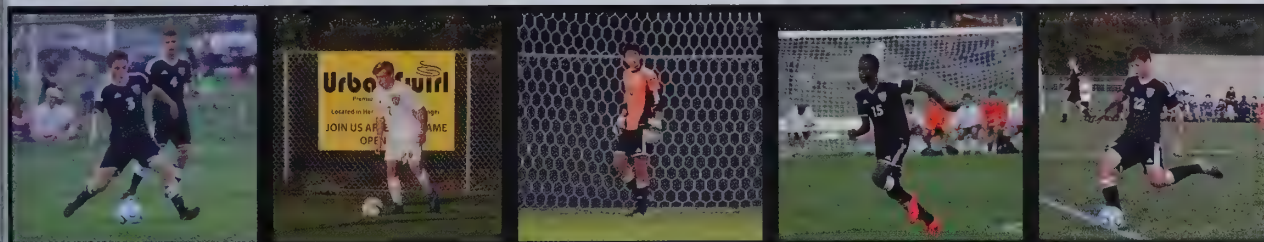

Kick it where it counts. The season started off slowly, seeing the Kingsmen lose their first 3 matches. However, as team chemistry and communication improved, the boys gained the skills and confidence needed to go on and rattle off 14 straight wins. This impressive streak gave them the momentum to fight all the way to Semi State, definitely an achievement to be proud of. After the rough start, the boys proved that they can work together to overcome any obstacle.

2015 Captains

"Penn Soccer's greatest moment this year was when we won our own Penn tournament."

-Noah Craig (12)

"The best part about Penn Boy's Soccer is when the team jams out to Lauper in the locker room."

-Drew Fulmer (11)

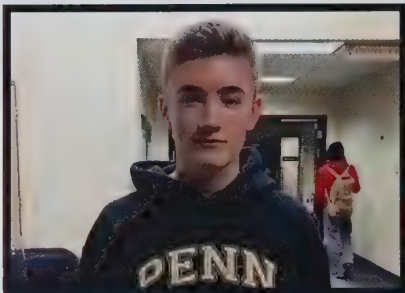

"This year, my favorite moment was when the team came together and we beat our rival St. Joe on their Senior night."

-Colorado Kruggel (12)

"Our team fought through adversity this year, which made us strong. We never gave up on each other, and we went far because of it."

-Justin Stahl (12)

Most Memorable Moment:

"In Valparaiso we were on the bus and everybody lined up on the edge of the seat while they had a ball at one end, and everybody was heading the ball down the line."

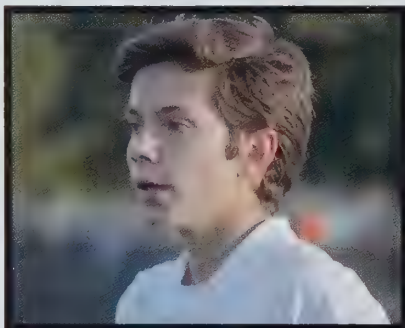

-Nathan Ludwig (9)

Team Traditions:

"Pasta dinners playing games at Mason Plummer's house before big games."

-Collin Mott (9)

Favorite Part:

"It's just a sport I really enjoy. My friends are on the team. We take turns having pasta parties at people's houses too."

-Alexander Karamitsos (9)

Alive and kickin'! If there's anything the boys' soccer team took away from this season, it's that hard work pays off. Through a lot of conditioning the boys were able to improve their endurance, ultimately allowing them to outrun their opponents. The boys worked on skills like working up the field from the back, trying to keep possession of the ball, and team passing. Growth in these skills led to the boys beating big rivals like Carroll in their tournament. The future looks bright for Kingsmen soccer.

Freshman, Hayden Carnine, runs the ball down the field.

Hardest Part:

"The running and conditioning. Soccer is 90 minute game and you have to be giving it your all for those 90 minutes or you will lose."

-Mason Plummer (10)

Most Memorable Moment:

"Rushing onto the field after winning the regional championship against Elkhart Memorial 2-1, and then having a party at Graham's house."

-Hayden Hurn (10)

You know you're a soccer player when...

50% of your feet are made up of calluses.

You are willing to wake up at 6am each morning during the summer to go to conditioning with the team.

Your "family" consists of over 30 guys.

You have a strong endurance for running.

You are quick, good with your feet, and coordinated.

You start kicking any ball you see.

You own more soccer shorts than any other shorts.

-Mackenzie Wood (10)

"Making it to the state championship had always been my dream. This season was not what we wanted but to make it here with this group of girls will be something I will never forget. Thanks always!"
-Alexis Marks (11)

"I enjoyed being a part of such a special team and making friendships that will last forever."
-Brooke Vandyck (9)

SENIORS

We do it for the kicks. This season, the girls finished with an impressive record of 21-1-2. They traveled to compete in the state championship and played an incredible game. The score was close but they came up just a little short. When Head Coach Hart was asked what the highlight of the season was, he said it was the opportunity to play in the state championship and watch everyone work so well together on the field. Coach Hart also stated that, "Our ultimate team goal was to win state but the season-long journey to remain undefeated and get there was an awesome experience for all players and coaches." There were 13 Seniors this season including Kamra Solomon who won the IHSAA Mental Attitude Award. She was a team captain for three years, two time all-state player, and "a special leader that impacted the PGS program for the past four years" (Coach Hart).

Kamra Solomon was nominated for the Mental Attitude Award by her coaches and the administrators. She said it was great to win the award. When asked how it felt to be nominated, she replied, "It really shows how highly my coaches thought of me not just as a player but as a person and leader."

One Team One Dream. Penn Junior Varsity Girls' Soccer started off with fierce early-morning workouts and late-night practices throughout the whole summer. The work paid off, and the Lady Kingsmen were mentally and physically prepared for any challenge thrown at them this undefeated season. Junior Erica Perry reflected that the team showed their fighting spirit the most during the Washington and St. Joseph games. "Their team was very strong and determined to beat us, but we were more determined and fought with greater tenacity." The future looks bright for the Lady Kingsmen Soccer Team!

"The most fun aspect of volleyball would have to be just hanging out with all of the girls."
 - Julia Beers (10)

"I show my dedication for volleyball by working hard at practice and trying my best to help the team on and off the court."
 - Grace Hosinski (11)

"The most memorable moment this year is when we are in the locker rooms before games having a dance party while listening to High School Musical."
 - Naomi Willis (10)

Can you dig it? The Girls' Varsity Volleyball team opened the season playing an incredible game against Northwood winning all three matches. They harnessed that momentum to drive them through the next several weeks of tough opponents. With such a full practice and game schedule, they had to grab down time wherever they could get it, so they bonded over team dinners, a fun day at Amazing Acres having a competition in the corn maze, and even seeing Alumni Kaitlyn Hickey play volleyball at IUPUI. Coach Hendricks says, "This team has a group of girls with fun personalities, They are fun to be around and I really enjoyed the time that we spent off the court getting to know eachother."

"My advice to an athlete wanting to improve her volleyball skills is to work hard and never give up."
-Josephine Engdahl (12)

"Volleyball is always a tight game. It's so fast, and there's nowhere on the court that the ball doesn't go - it demands that right when you step on the court that you're in the game 100%."
-Jennifer Heritz (11)

Left: The team huddles to strategize about their next play. The girls not only hone their athletic skills but their communication skills as well.

Center: Italia Fields gets into position to bump the ball. She has played competitive volleyball for 4 years.

Right: Jenn Heritz presents a formidable opponent, spiking the ball for another Penn point!

"I look forward to playing Elkhart Memorial High School because every time we play them it feels like we are a different team. Everyone fights hard together as a team and we compete very well with them and get closer and closer to winning."
-Abigail Zellers (11)

"Elkhart Memorial was my most exciting game because we knew that they would be good competition."

-Natalie Nelson (9)

"I have always liked volleyball and I have known girls that have played for a while and have said they really like it. I decided to do it because it seemed fun and I like the sport."

-Natalie Nelson (9)

Coaches' Corner

"My favorite memories of our season are Saturday tournaments. This is where the girls have grown as a team! We have encountered tough opponents and have been very successful against all of them because of our hard work, dedication, and positive attitudes!"

-Coach Superszynski-Huff

"My favorite moments are when I'd see my girls improve... actually take in my coaching and make themselves better."

Our game is as tight as our bond. Freshmen and JV Volleyball hit the courts with a vengeance. Before school even opened its doors for students, these lady athletes were drilling, bumping, spiking, and sharpening their skills. The season opened with a tournament at Northwood, but the real nail biter was the Elkhart Memorial Game. Warsaw posed another challenge, and while it didn't end the way we would have liked, it was a back and forth game the entire time. Both JV and Freshmen ended their seasons strong with their victories over New Prairie. Good job Lady Kingsmen on your striking season.

Penn claimed its 14th consecutive sectional title with a 5-0 victory against Marian in the final of the Penn sectional at the Wiekamp Courts on October 1st.

Mason Lee, A.J. Antonelli, and Cole Pollyea were singles winners for Penn as were the doubles teams of Tim Porsche and Thomas Gifford at No. 1 and Edward Atkinson and Tyler Styles at No. 2.

Scrappy. Motivated. Legendary. No one knew how the Kingsmen would respond after losing 3 great players from the squad that previously went 23-0 the year before. "Coming into this season, we really didn't know what our strength would be. We just knew we would have to find a way to get three points each match," said Coach Bowers. Early on, the Kingsmen responded the only way they knew how, and that was to go onto Saint Joe's home courts and upset the Indians 3-2. As the season progressed, things started to look dim as their No. 1 singles player Stuart Feeley was lost to a season ending back injury. The shuffles in the lineup were seen as a weakness for the Kingsmen. They were once again labeled as the underdog, but they took this as a challenge. Penn found their strength in the doubles with seniors Thomas Gifford and Tim Porsche. They remained undefeated in conference play and gave the team momentum heading into the championship season where Penn would be crowned the sectional champions for a 14th consecutive season. The win propeled the boys into the regional championships where they would finish second. Penn would go on to scrap out 14 hard fought wins and send their all-NIC captains Thomas Gifford and Tim Porsche to state for one doubles. The way this team carried themselves throughout the season was nothing short of astonishing.

Season Highlight

On September 10th, Coach Bowers led his team to play against the undefeated St. Joseph Indians. The two rivals have been back and forth for years, but Penn has recently had a larger share of the success. In recent years Penn had blown through the regular season, but after Penn lost many of its leaders from last season, there were some doubts that they could beat the Indians. All those doubts were put to rest as Coach Bowers led his team in there to beat the Indians 3-2. It was a great showing of grit, resilience, and determination.

Doubles team of Thomas Gifford and Tim Porsche had phenomenal success this season. They remained undefeated in regular season conference play and made it all the way to the state tournament for the 1 doubles.

Captains

"The highlight of my season would be making it to state because my partner Tim and I have worked extremely hard to get where we are now and it just goes to show that hard work really does pay off."

-Thomas Gifford (12)

"I loved how nice my teammates were and how easy it was to talk to everyone and have a good time."

-Tim Porsche (12)

Coach's Corner

The highlight of Coach Bowers's season was beating St. Joe 3-2 in the regular season. Earlier in the season, Coach reached his 100th career win.

The Kingsmen traveled to Oxbow Park on October 3rd for another NIC meet in which the boys emerged victorious. Colton Shail was named MVP of the meet with a time of 16:22. 33 of the 39 runners posted best times of the season and Colton Shail, Matt Evans, Daniel Hardman, Chad Piatt, Curtis Cornell, Nick Scheel, and Cameron Nagle all made the NIC conference teams.

Primed, Capable, Motivated. The Kingsmen boys' cross country team shot right out of the gate after a grueling offseason. They quickly put behind the heartbreak that last season brought upon them when they missed out on state by only a couple points. County Clash, Penn Invite, no name or course was too big for the runners as they handily took first place in each of these events. Senior captains Matt Evans and Daniel Hardman knew there was more to come, and so did the runners. "We started fast, but it's more about how we finish. We knew what we were capable of. There were some days where I was on the verge of puking because of how hard I pushed myself in practice," said Matt Evans. The runners got behind one another and continued to push each other each day at practice because they had their sights set on defending their regional crown. Championship season came, and everything these boys put into their season was about to pay off. They were crowned NIC champions, and successfully defended their regional championship. The wins sent the boys to Semi-State, where they earned seventh place. The runners missed out on the state championships but displayed unbelievable grit, resilience, and determination. Their season was nothing short of greatness as they were shown to dominate their opponents with class and humility.

To Columbus and back

While most of us get in our car to cross state borders, these guys run there. Coach Miller's training regiment of 7 to 8 miles a day caused his team to pack on the distance throughout the season.

When it was all said and done, each individual ran the equivalent of a round trip to Columbus, Ohio.

Captains

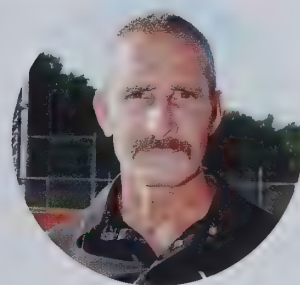

"The highlight of my season was breaking 17:00 minutes this year."
-Matt Evans (12)

"The thing that I'm going to miss the most is just how fun it is. Everybody is so much fun to be around and you make memories almost every day."
-Daniel Hardman (12)

Coach's Corner

Coach Miller led his team to within one spot of qualifying for the state tournament, and he was named conference coach of the year.

A word from the team

Lauren Frank

"I run because I love it and it's good for me. But mostly because I like to eat. A lot!"

Sybil Kurian

"Running has made me learn to LOVE water, especially after runs. Water is part of our fuel."

Ellie Jankowski

"The hardest thing I had to overcome was getting used to the larger amount of people in each race."

Coach Clements

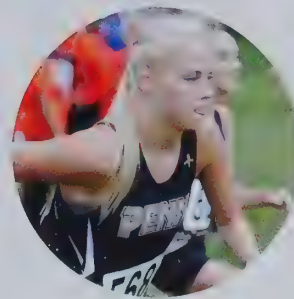

"Hopefully I can encourage others to love the sport and see the lifelong benefits it can have."

"I show my dedication to my sport by practicing five days a week and making sure that I take care of my body not only during season, but out of season as well."

-Lorena Daugherty (11)

Every runner can experience success. Coach Clements comments on what he loves about coaching other than "seeing a girl run an all-time PR (Personal Record)" which are some of the best moments he shares about being a coach. Most of the girls on the team have had to deal with excruciating injuries that have set them off from participating in some races. "Previously, we had been working to build teams that can compete highly at State level, but no one in this group has been there. They continue to remain hungry, and they have much higher expectations for themselves because of that experience." Coach Clements indulges about the experience the girls have had and how far they have come as whole. "Our team works together to help each other achieve individual goals and team goals," Sybil Kurian shared. Not only has this team fought against injuries and tears, but they also fought their very hardest to win NIC & Sectionals! Girls Cross Country is not just a team, it's a family. They blare music before races together, they pray before meets together, and also say pre-race rituals together! While it is hard to balance homework, social life, school, and sports all at once, they seem to manage it well. "They are so competitive and willing to sacrifice for the team." Coach Clements

"My words of advice would be to stay determined and to keep working at it, even though this is a tough sport to adjust to."

-Julia Nafe (12)

"My words of advice to anyone who wants to be a cross country runner is that you have to enjoy it. There's a balance between working until you can't go anymore, but also having fun with what you do. If you don't enjoy it, it's much harder to succeed."

-Danielle Spring (10)

Rise as ONE. Congrats to the Varsity Football team on making it to state finals! Hardwork pays off and that showed this season. Varsity hit the ground running this season by practicing. Coach Barrier commented on the teams loss, but realized it was what they needed in order to become stronger, "When we lost to Brother Rice, I think that kind of exposed/ brought the team together a little bit and said here's what we need to work on." This year's team was very motivated and headstrong when it came to playing and putting their heart and soul on the field. You can tell this sport is everything to them. They definitely made their mark here at Penn High School.

Passing the Legacy.

Freshman Football

The future is bright knowing that this year's freshmen will be taking up the Kingsmen football mantle. Stomping on every team that arose, the freshmen team showed off their skill in a perfect 9 and 0 season. Overcoming their challenge was no problem for the young Kingsmen against Valparaiso to mark a strong start to the season. Penn won games against Merrillville and Mishawaka, both games ending with Penn having a 33 point score. They moved on to defeat Elkhart Central with a smooth 35 to 10 victory. The freshmen Kingsmen shut out Adams in an impressive 41 to 0 game. The Kingsmen had their skills tested against St.Joe in the first half, but the team came out on top with a 41 to 19 score. Round two against both Elkhart Central and Mishawaka came and the Kingsmen did not waiver in their win streak.

Quotes from the team

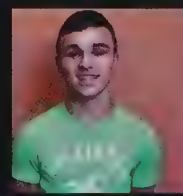

"Our chemistry as a team allowed us bond together and become brothers."

-Brock Boynton (9)

"I'm most proud of the fact that we went undefeated."

-George Ohlson (9)

"The Saint Joe game was my favorite game because it was so intense."

-Trenton Horvath (9)

Cheerleader thoughts

Sydney Fozo

Sydney Fozo loves cheering for the Penn Kingsmen and has made a lot of friends in her last four years.

Hannah Thompson

"My advice would be to never give up on your dreams because hard work pays off."

Kelsey Cave

"One of the most memorable moments from the season is singing the fight song on the bus ride home."

Jasmine Leining

"One of the most memorable things from this season is cheering under the lights on Friday nights with my best friends."

"Don't let a seemingly difficult stunt keep you from trying it! And perfect the basics because technique is everything."

Work at it!"

-Allyssa Pate (11)

Do you have team Spirit? This season Varsity and JV cheer teams had a total of 35 girls make the cut and start their journey to represent Penn High School and outshine other schools' team spirit. "We ran into challenges, such as getting our stunts to hit and everyone working together to make things work, but we pushed each other to become better cheerleaders to represent Penn High School," Emily Wyatt explained about the difficult tasks the girls had to face, but eventually pushed through to show off their inner fierceness and integrity. Overall, the girls on the team had a good experience together because they shared a lot of memories on and off the field. Friday nights were their time to shine on the football field and fire the crowd up, showing off their perfected flips, kicks, and cheers. One thing you won't forget about this team would have to definitely be their sparkly glitter and the positive and peppy vibe they emitted on those Friday nights on the field.

"Cheerleading was my favorite part of high school and I'm glad that I got to do it with my best friends for all four years."

-Abigail McRoberts (12)

"Trying out for cheer was one of the best decisions I made because I met some of my closest friends."

-Jillian Jaques (12)

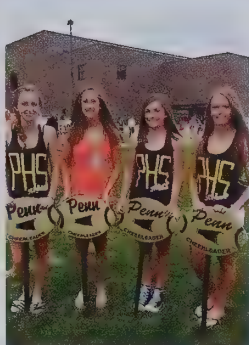

"Cheering for Penn has given me a group of best friends to go through the past four years of high school with. It's all that I imagined it to be."

-Emily Wyatt (12)

You know you're a cheerleader when..

- 1) When you have an extensive bow collection.
- 2) If you own too many Nike pros and soffee shorts.
- 3) If you know every line to "Bring it on".
- 4) When you have a never ending supply of bobby pins.
- 5) If you know "just one more time." definitely doesn't mean one more time...more like 9-10 more times.

Practice, Practice, Practice!

Varsity girls have attended cheer camps and summer practices to begin the process of growing as a team. They have grown and made an impact on the student section by getting them on their feet and cheering along to their catchy cheers!

"My definition of a cheerleader is really supporting your school and the football players."

-Madeline Cantrel (11)

"My goals for cheer are to get the crowd pumped and help out my fellow cheer mates."

-Katelyn Harbin (10)

"The most fun thing about the games is definitely the stunts and the crowds. When parents clap along with the fight song it's really fun!"

-Diem Dang (9)

Got Cheer? The Junior Varsity and Freshmen Cheer squads took this year's season by storm. The team consisted of 17 girls on the JV and Freshmen team. The JV girls cheered on the JV football team and on Friday nights alongside the Varsity girls, while the Freshmen girls cheered on the Freshmen football team. Both teams became a close knit family as the season progressed. "Every Thursday we have team dinners and it gives us a real chance to bond together," said Junior Varsity cheerleader Caroline Tornquist. With every passing game the girls grew into a sisterhood. Jenna Marshall, a Freshmen cheerleader, stated, "It was a memorable year probably because we were all one team. If someone was hurt, the whole team was hurt." Every week, the girls led crowds of parents and students on to cheer for the fighting Kingsmen and their favorite players. This year was definitely a hit for the JV and Freshmen cheerleaders and will be one for the books.

"I look up to the Junior Varsity and Varsity girls a lot. They help us out when ever we need it."

-Ryleigh Schackow (9)

"My favorite part about being on a team is making friends with the people I don't really talk too."

-Shelldon Westbrook (9)

SUPERHERO/ VILLAIN DAY

We were never safer than Monday, 9/14, as Superman, Captain America and other caped crusaders graced the halls.

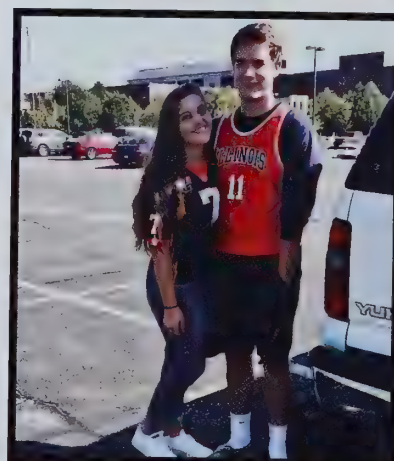

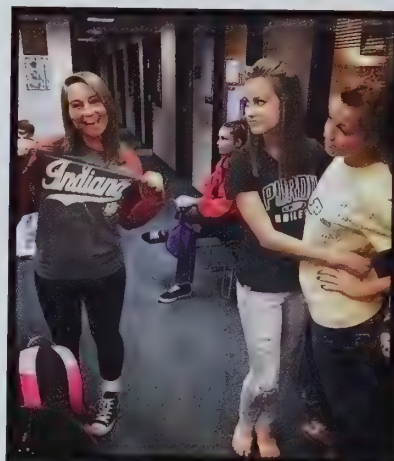

DECADES DAY

Though not alive to remember it, Seniors conjured up their best interpretations of the 80's, donning sweatbands, leg warmers, and neon colors.

COLLEGE T-SHIRT DAY

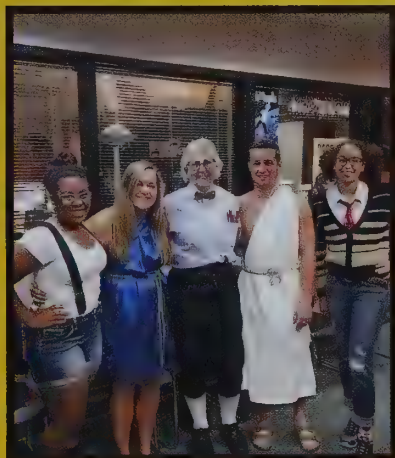

School rivalries were evident, though we're sure no feelings were hurt through the duration of the day.

TOGA/ NERD DAY

One of the most eagerly anticipated days for Seniors is Toga Day, in contrast to the rest of the student body who decks out in suspenders and pocket protectors.

BLACK AND GOLD

Spirit week concluded with traditional black and gold day.

HOMECOMING COURT

Even though the game was rained out, homecoming court still got to have their special moment in the gymnasium. Sam Scholtes and Nina Bakshi, were crowned King and Queen.

Seniors

Starting out the night on Wednesday, September 16th, the Junior class took on the Freshmen. The game went into overtime bringing a win for the Juniors. Next, the Seniors played the Sophomores. The game was close, but the win went to the Sophomores. In the last game the Juniors beat the Sophomores. The Juniors played to win, and win they did.

Coach Cantoni gives the Senior girls a final pep talk after an emotional loss.

When asked her favorite part of being the sponsor, Mrs. Fry responded, "The national anthem on game night." She went on to say, "At that moment, it's just really cool to me to look up in the stands and see the parents and the friends that are there. The guys coaching, the girls playing, and their adult sponsors. And, everyone kind of all together in this one space, for that one moment, and then all obviously paying respect to our country. It's just a cool moment for me." The job is not all glory though. Mrs. Fry said "The worst part is that all the girls throw their dirty sweaty jerseys in the back of my car after game night, which was totally my idea, but then until I get them out my car is stinky."

A special thank you to Mrs. Fry for coordinating the whole event and making it possible.

Freshman vs. Juniors	0-6
Sophomores vs. Seniors	6-0
Sophomores vs. Juniors	0-10

Freshman, Mia Church, didn't even hesitate in saying the hardest part was "Learning plays!"

Sophomore, Kayla Carnes, said the most memorable part of powder puff was being the only one to score for the team in the game against the seniors.

Junior, Mckenna Keppler, said "I had a blast. It was really cool because we got to be close with each other and becoming champions was awesome."

Senior, Olivia Presnell, excitedly yelled that her favorite part was "Jonathan!"

Back in the Bleachers in Black and Gold.

Homecoming 2015 was, in a way, the Homecoming that almost wasn't. Throughout the week, students donned carefully selected outfits for the various dress-up days, but the much anticipated door decorating contest didn't happen. Then, Friday, the day of the pep rally, heavy clouds let loose a torrent of rain in the morning hours, threatening to move the rally indoors. However, at the last minute and with eyes on the skies, school administration made the call to keep the assembly outdoors, and Student Council got to work setting up the bleachers. At 2:30, throngs of students made their way toward TCU Freed Field accompanied by the rhythmic talents of the Marching Kingsmen. Students were treated to a Marching Band performance, the acrobatics of the cheerleaders, friendly class competition, and a rousing pep-talk from Coach Yeoman.

The football team was slated to battle Adams later in the evening, but the weather gods had other plans. Freed Field would have been a more fitting location for a naval battle than a football game as the downpour only intensified. Spectators moved indoors where the Homecoming King and Queen were crowned. The Homecoming Dance, the first Penn has hosted in several years, was supposed to take place after the game, but even that was canceled.

Despite the disappointing Friday evening weather, Penn pounced on Adams Saturday morning, adding to their 4-1 record. The dance was rescheduled for later in the semester, and students resumed their weekend plans.

The Color Guard worked through a busy season with some ups and downs. The show's theme was Bloom, centered around flowers blooming creating growth, renewal and beauty. The team's toughest challenge and downfall was super regional down in Indy but they improved upon it and rocked it at Regionals, Semi-State, and State. They and the band finished strong by getting 7th place at State.

What did you do when you heard that you got 7th?

What is the hardest part of color guard?

Why did you choose color guard?

What is your favorite thing to do on the bus rides?

Junior, Lacy Milcherska, says, "I was really surprised because last year we got 9th. We worked so hard for this moment to be better than what we were last year by putting in countless hours."

Senior, Allyson Daley, says, "The hardest part of color guard is catching your rifle and/or sabre when it's really cold out and it hits your frozen fingers. Ouch!"

Junior, Morgan Corban, says, "I chose to do color guard because I thought it would be a fun experience to meet new people. Being able to finish all four years of color guard will be a great accomplishment."

Junior, Kaylin Thompson, shared, "We do these things called snaps and everyone gets a piece of paper and they write their name down and then put it back in the bucket. Then everybody draws a name, whosever name you get you get to write down something nice about the person and then the upperclassmen read them off and make everyone feel good and have a good vibe going before we go out and perform. That's the best thing."

Marching Forward.

Marching Band

2015 - 2016

PENN HIGH SCHOOL MARCHING KINGSMEN

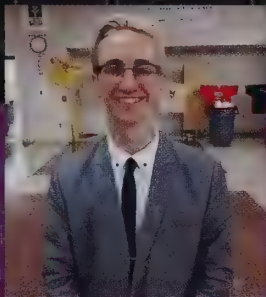

Bloom...in many ways this is exactly what the Marching Kingsmen did this season. From the beginning of June to the beginning of November, the Marching Kingsmen practiced their show and marched their way to the state qualifiers, where a group of some two hundred excited Kingsmen waited to be called to head to State. The relentless practicing to improve allowed the Penn Marching Kingsmen to put on a fantastic performance at Lucas Oil Stadium. This performance resulted in a solid seventh place in the State Finals to top the ninth place they received last year.

"I'm proud of the band coming together and helping those who struggled and in the end we were passionate even when the future looked weak."

-Reagan Johanson (11)

"I was a little worried at the beginning of the season but we saw the Freshmen bloom and the band really reached a whole new level that we've never been to before."

-Eric Wistreich (12)

"The band's ability to overcome challenges and place 7th at state is something I'm extremely proud of. Just remember, don't give up and push hard to the end of the season. It will be worth it."

-Giselle Goad (12)

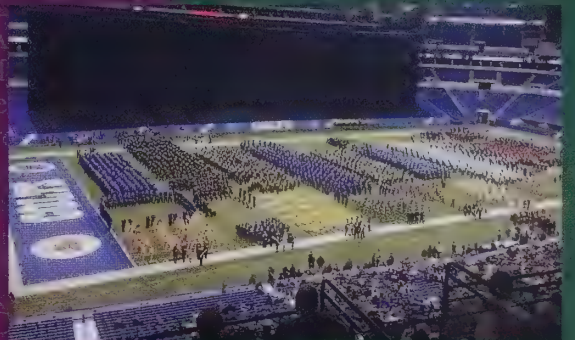

"This band's dedication and persistence of effort is something I am very proud of. I will never forget the feeling in the moment of getting called as a state qualifier."

-Samantha Fluharty (12)

"Not about Flowers, more about Awakening."

-Director Glenn Northern

Athletic trainers serve many functions during the three athletic seasons. Their main job is to help athletes stay healthy and prepare them to return to the game. They make ice packs, tape sprains, and assist with caring for concussions. They take the time after school to help athletes overcome injuries while gaining valuable experience in sports medicine. Under the supervision and guidance of Ms. Irwin and Ms. Westra, our athletic trainers provide a valuable service to Penn athletics.

When asked her favorite thing about student assisting, Senior Kimberly Fulmer told us "I love helping Ms. Armstrong. She's an incredible teacher and motivator. She's really helped me realize that I have a passion for educating. Also, she really makes student assisting fun with the tasks she gives me."

When asked why they student assisted most might reply with "I needed another class" or "It's easy" or "I didn't want to be in study hall," but senior Lucy Bowers did it for more than that. "I like helping people and enjoy interacting with students and staff. This is where people go when they're upset and I want them to be greeted with a smile."

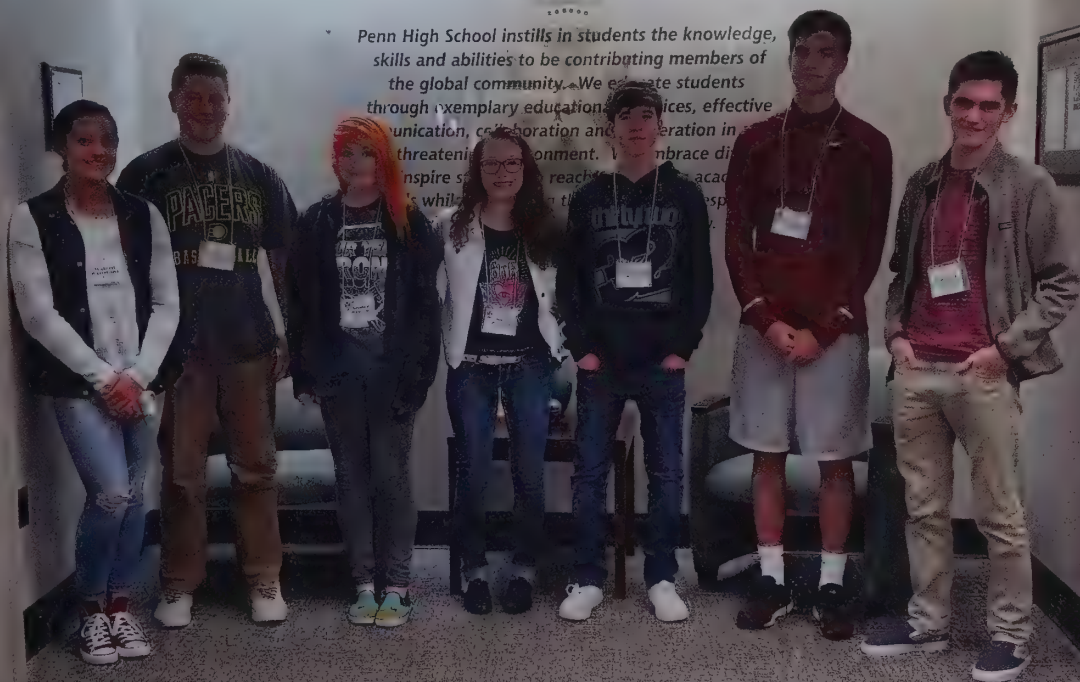

Student Assistants

Mission Statement

Penn High School instills in students the knowledge, skills and abilities to be contributing members of the global community. We educate students through exemplary education, effective communication, collaboration and cooperation in a safe, secure, and supportive environment. We embrace diversity and inspire students to reach their academic goals while maintaining a positive attitude.

Andrew Fair (11) shared, "we get some bonuses, sometimes we get food parties, and everyone here is really nice. It's also really quiet but peaceful."

Fall Play

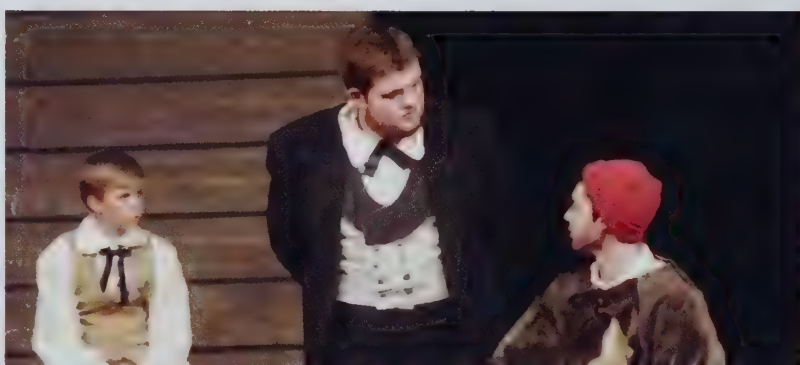

Billie Bennett, 12, scolds Bryce Yoder, 11, who plays her husband. Yoder's character is on trial for cannibalism and confesses his fateful crimes.

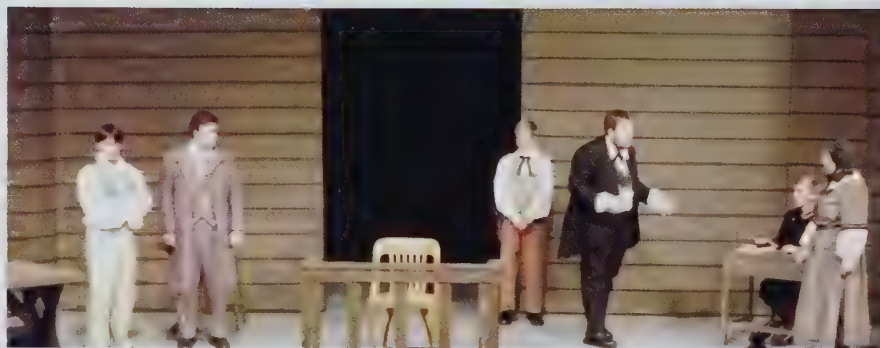

Devour the Snow

Directed by Mr. David Dutton, Devour the Snow took place in Penn's Studio Theatre on October 1 and 2, 2015. The show is based on the terrifying true story of the Donner Party trials. The show itself is set in 1847, just after a group of settlers were making their way to California. Due to inclement weather, the travelers were stranded on a mountain in the snow, and only few survived. The play focuses on the reflections of the survivors and their account of what went on while they were stranded. This emotion-filled play captivates the audience and truly grasps the human struggle between morals and survival. The characters face the terrifying choice between death, or cannibalism, and the decisions they make leave tremendous impact on their lives forever.

So it was more of a building up of the overflowing emotions. I played the character more as a human than a cannibal, because he is a monster, and the truest monster of all is one who knows that he is one and does it anyway."

"The greatest thing about being in the show was how all of the cast was able to come together and help each other with the depth of our characters."

The Great Gatsby

A little party never killed nobody...

On November 13, 14, & 15, 2015, Penn Theatre took the stage in the theatrical adaptation of F. Scott Fitzgerald's iconic novel, The Great Gatsby. This production involved over 50 Penn High School students as part of the cast and crew, making this one of the largest plays Penn has ever performed. Despite competing with inclement weather, and highly attended sporting events, the show was enormously successful.

The show itself is set in the 1920's, a time of wealth and extravagance in America's history. New York City was thriving with the "Newly Rich," and Jay Gatsby was no different. A wealthy and mysterious man, Mr. Gatsby hosts fabulous parties regularly, in hopes of gaining attention from his former love, Daisy Buchanan. When Nick Carraway, Daisy's cousin, moves in next door, Gatsby takes it upon himself to befriend Nick and rekindle his relationship with Daisy. This show is filled with desperation, betrayal, and passion that could only come from the Great Gatsby.

When asked about working on this show, Broderick Balsley, senior, shared that "being able to play a character as widely known as Nick Carraway was both a blessing and a curse. It is always amazing to play a role that so many people are familiar with and look forward to seeing on stage, but challenges are presented because people hold such high expectations for the role." He found the opportunity to play such a role exciting, but was also able to learn a lot from the character.

With such a quintessential show as Great Gatsby, the actors and crew felt the pressure of paying respect to the novel, but made it their own in a new and electrifying way.

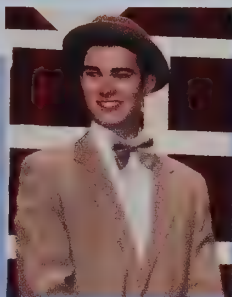

ABOVE: Nick greets Meyer Wolfsheimer and learns about how Mr. Gatsby really came into his fortune.

"The role of Jay Gatsby is my all time dream role, and the experience is definitely something I'm going to remember for my whole life, old sport."

Back At It

Has there ever been a day when there was no food at lunch time? Did you ever think that our halls and our classrooms were falling apart? If you answered no to both questions, there is a reason for that. That reason is the amazing staff we have here at Penn. We don't always notice all the things they do for us, often because we aren't there to witness it. These amazing people keep our school running smoothly. And for that, we thank them.

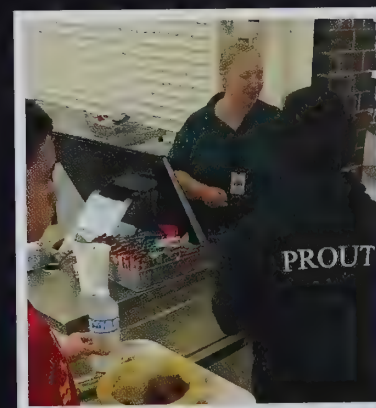

The Custodial Staff

Within the word custodian is the word custody, and when we think of custody, we think of the words like parenting and care. Our custodians do exactly that. They care for this school, from catching mice to keeping classes well lit and tables fixed. They keep our whole school clean. They stick around long after we've all left to make our school the clean, safe, and welcoming place that it is when we walk in each morning. We don't see the effort they put in to making this a place we want to come to, but it's a lot, and we are thankful for every last bit of it.

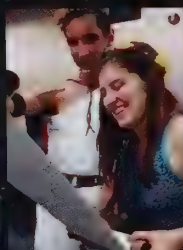

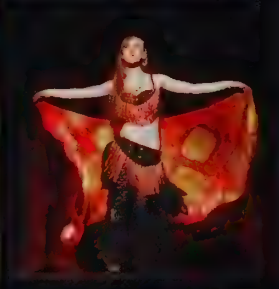

The Cafeteria Staff

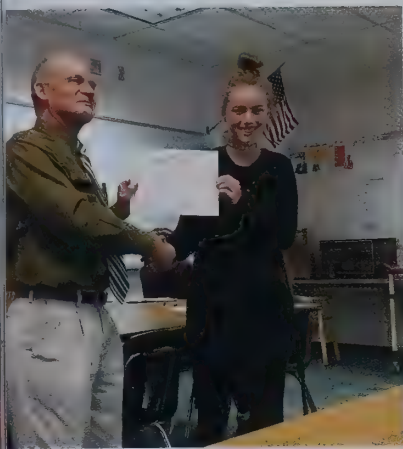

When we go to lunch, all we see is close to a thousand bodies cramming into a room with 30 minutes to eat their tasty and warm food. What we don't see is our cafeteria staff running around a hot kitchen preparing, refilling, and replacing food as quickly as they can before the next rush of students pour in. We don't see the dozens armed with towels and sanitizer rushing to keep our tables and chairs clean and nice before the next thousand of us pour in. We don't see these things, but they happen, and we thank the cafeteria staff for everything they do.

CLUBS

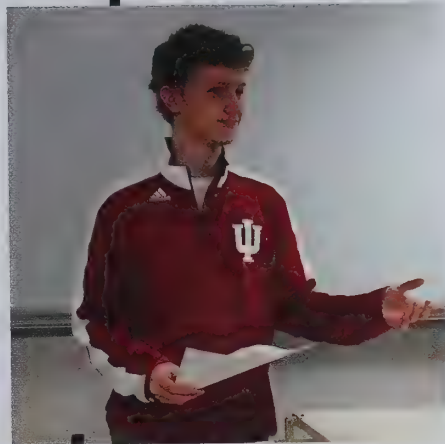

Don't Hate, Debate.

"If you want to join debate, go for it! At first I was confused if I really wanted to join, but I stuck with it and here I am. I love debate and it has taught me so much. It gave me a new friend group that I love. It can change your life for the greater good."

-Emily Zimmer (10)

"I wanted to be a lawyer since I was 8 or 9, so I thought debate would be a good first step to become one."

-Brandon Vickery (10)

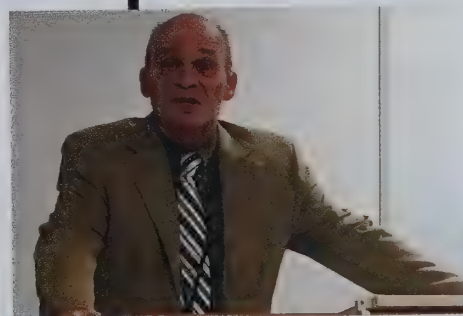

Speech & Debate

Top Row: Amelia Atkinson, Josh Leedy, Priya Choudhury, Kyrin Hobbs. Bottom Row: Sanjana Kulkarni, Corey Wong, Emily Yelke, Rohit Das, & Mr. Duron.

Blake Hesch and Amelia Atkinson accept their District Awards. Blake took 1st place qualifying him for Nationals, and Amelia took 3rd place making her a finalist for Nationals due in June.

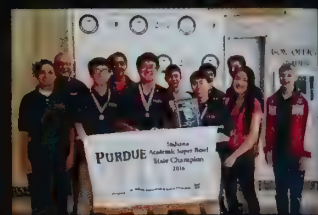

Mr. Duron has been the team sponsor of speech and debate for 14 years now and has full intentions on inspiring others through his own passion for it.

Speech and debate team members travel to Sawtrey competitions all over Indiana throughout the fall semester and early part of spring. If a student has any interest in public communication, he or she will most definitely fit into this team and hone their skills for future success.

State Champions

On Saturday, November 14th, at Purdue University, Coach Dekever and his spellers capped off a remarkable season by earning their 15th state championship in dramatic fashion. Entering the final round, both Martinsville and Penn were deadlocked before Martinsville misspelled the 84th word, allowing Penn to seize the state championship with a perfect score of 90. Provided Penn misspelled one of the remaining six words, the trophy would have been rewarded to Martinsville, since they owned the tiebreaker over the Kingsmen. The margin for error was slim, but the experience and depth of the Kingsmen ended up being the difference between first and second place.

"The state championship is really an endorsement of the hard work that the students put in, and the high expectations that we have. We go into every season with the goal of being the state champion, and getting a perfect score of 90 in the finals. It's just very rewarding and fulfilling when it's all able to work out according to plan." Coach Dekever

to never forget

The Penn Spell Bowl team methodically defeated each of their 92 opponents this season, further establishing themselves as Indiana's supreme program. Led by Coach Dekever and a core group of seniors, the spellers ingrained in themselves the dedication and expectations needed to take their elite status to an even higher stratosphere of their own. Each day the players showed relentless discipline by taking the time to memorize their list of words. The unmatched discipline and dedication of the spellers produced great results throughout the season as they won all seven of their invitationals, including perfect scores of 90 at East Noble, Kouts #1 and #2, Penn, and Logansport. With momentum and confidence on their side, the spellers now traveled to Plymouth where they would attempt to defend their regional title against about 170 teams statewide. With a high score of 89, Penn qualified for the state championships at Purdue University on November 14th. Going into the season, Penn had the goal of being in the state championship, and defending their title as Indiana's premier Spell Bowl team. Now at the championships, Penn had the opportunity to fulfill their goal and be rewarded for all of the hard work they put in throughout the season. Led by captains Chris Yun and Presto George, Penn would end up defeating Martinsville in the finals in dramatic fashion, earning their 15th state championship. Leading the way were Faihaan Arif, Muqsit Buchh, Presto George, Hannah Smith, Athreya Sundaram, and Michelle Tapp. These spellers were perfect in varsity competition throughout the season. With the dominance displayed by this team, it is hard to argue against them being the most dominant academic or athletic team ever fielded at Penn.

Kanika Arora was honored by the IASP as the only senior to have spelled every word correctly at the regional and state finals for four consecutive years.

State Spell Bowl Records

En route to winning their 15th State Championship, the sheer dominance and effort displayed by the spellers paved the way for 10 state records.

- Most Spell Bowl State Champions: 15
- Most consecutive perfect scores of 90 in the state finals: 4
- Most points scored in a single season: 807/810
- Highest team scoring average: .996
- Most opponents defeated in a season: 92
- Most consecutive words spelled correctly in a varsity competition: 403
- Most individual perfect scores in a season: 87
- Most perfect team scores of 90: 46
- Most perfect team scores of 90 in a season: 6
- Highest JV team score: 90

Final Thoughts

"Spell Bowl taught me to build work habits and socialize with people." -Christopher Yun (12)

"Spell Bowl has given me a really good work ethic. We have to put in a lot of work, including outside of practice, in order to achieve our goals." -Presto George (12)

German American Partnership Program

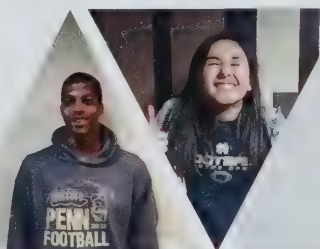

GAPP 2015 - 2016

GAPP is a multi-cultural experience here at Penn that pairs a student from Christian-Rohlf-Gymnasium in Germany with a Penn High School student for a once in a lifetime experience. GAPP brings students from Christian Rohlf here during the Fall semester and sends an American partner there in the summer. Both the students gain the ability to speak proficiently, while also having the best times of their lives. GAPP is in its 21st year, run by Frau Dix & Frau Kraft.

The GAPP Group at the going-away party. The Americans and Germans were very excited to see them in the summer.

Elijah Cook:
"Honestly, I am really excited to take the trip over to Germany and gain the skills of being an experienced traveler"

Nat Skwarcan:
"I can't wait to make new friendships this summer and I can't wait to bond even more with my partner"

Kelsey Anderson:
"My favorite thing that we showed the Germans was traditional American movies. They loved to compare fictitious high schools with Penn."

Aileen Norton:
"I am most looking forward to the chance to experience German culture and to be fully immersed in the language."

Executive Members

When asked why she wanted to join Student Council, Junior Gracie Geshcke replied, "to be more involved and be a leader in school. When you're a member of a team, you're involved in the school, but I wanted to take a step further and lead rather than just participate."

Executive student council board members conduct their bi-weekly meeting addressing the student council body. They talk about the many fundraisers and events that will take place throughout the school year. These decisions affect the entire student body. Student Council was responsible for this year's teddy bear toss at a home basketball game.

Penn News Network

Penn News Network is a student run daily news broadcast that brings the students and faculty of Penn High School updates on everything that is happening at school. PNN has just finished its sixteenth season writing, filming, and editing. Teacher, Kevin McNulty, teaches his students all about writing and producing shows, as well as how to write stories for their website. This year students took on all challenges providing Penn with the best news show possible.

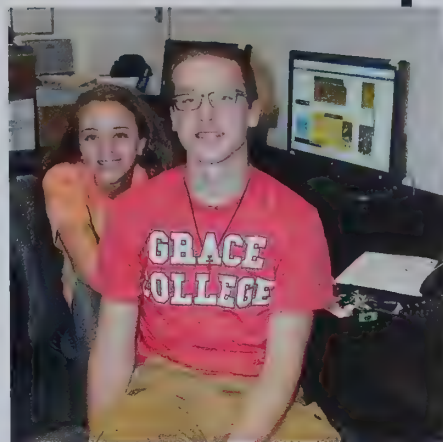

A Vision Becoming a Reality

During this school year, these Yearbookers have been hard at work getting quotes from athletes and students at Penn, taking the most memorable pictures from school events, hanging posters to promote yearbook sales, selling advertisements for the back of the book, tagging hundreds of students, and going through the pressure of finishing a three-hundred page book for thousands of eyes.

Yearbookers are getting prepared to pass out fourteen-hundred 2014-2015 yearbooks!

Emily and Ben have been in the full swing of yearbooking. After high school, they plan on furthering their writing capabilities in college.

Pennant

The Pennant is a youth journal that is offered to Pennant students by Mr. Kello. Students learn how to write stories, report on all things about Pennant, and learn about North Dakota.

The Pennant also has a yearbook that is sold to Pennant students by Mr. Kello. The yearbook is a great way to learn about the students and the school.

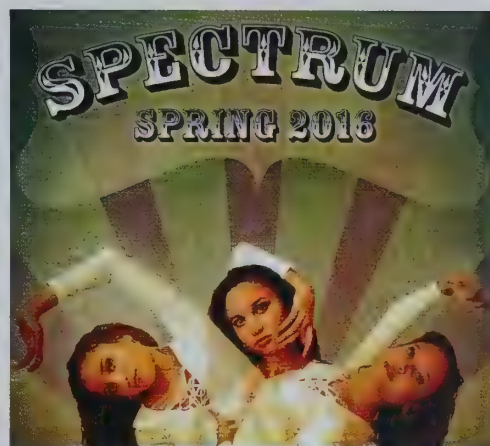

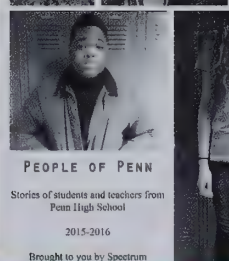

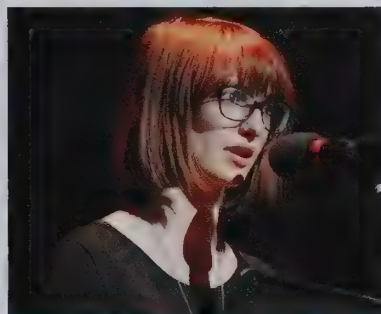

Writing Under the Big Top

The fall edition of Penn's literary magazine, Spectrum, was titled "Freak Show," was playing with the theme of 'writing under the big top.' The cover was designed by Senior, Rachel Saltzgaber.

The Spectrum spring cover evolved from a photo by Michaela Palicki, and was inspired by Cirque Du Soleil. Spectrum is a forum for student artwork, photographs, and writing.

Freshman Mentors

Freshman Mentors is a program that is made comprised of Sophmores, Juniors and Seniors who take on the responsibility of taking a small group of freshmen under their wing. Through structured activities and group discussions, the upperclassmen take responsibility to make sure freshmen feel welcomed and an important part of Penn High School. This program meets weekly during the first semester to talk about some serious and light-hearted topics. They get freshmen acclimated to high school and Penn's culture as well as ready to start thinking about their college and career aspirations.

Caring Our Way of Life

Key Club reaches out to the community through volunteer work. Members of this club are driven to make a positive contribution, volunteering at least twenty hours per year. This year was a bit different from past years in that there was a meeting every Black Wednesday, and Key Club members could not miss more than five meetings. Some of the events members participated in were helping with concessions, working bingo halls and food drives. Key Club's mission is to show care and investment in our community and give back to others.

Key Club

Emily Schlundt is the president of Key Club. She has been volunteering for a long time and is proud to be a part of the club. She says that being president has made her biggest impact on her life and is proud to represent volunteer opportunities.

Emily Schlundt (9), Lindsey Bullerman (10), and Jenna Coffel (11) spent their night volunteering at the Pancake Night with the Kiwanis Organization at the 1st Methodist Church on Church Street/Main Street. They helped by being waitresses for the evening.

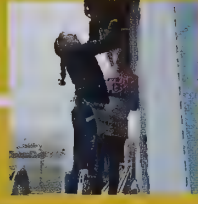

Building a Community

Habitat for Humanity is an organization led by Mr. Gavin and Mr. Rallo. The international mission of this group is to bring people together to build homes, communities, and hope. These dedicated students step in whenever local Habitat for Humanity groups need extra volunteers. "It's a really rewarding and empowering opportunity to help build homes for people in our community," Senior Mitchell Spangler stated.

Freshman Hannah Detschepper spends her Friday nights at Penn painting the stairs the covers of famous books. When asked what her favorite one she has done was she told us that it was the Great Gatsby stair.

Freshman Alyssa Smith spends a Friday night at the Fine Arts Fest, trying to sell her artwork and supporting her fellow artists. Art Club had helped paint some of the sets of the play Mary Poppins, join Spectrum in painting the stairs, and participating in the Fine Arts Fest.

THOUGHTS ON THE CLUB

Every Thursday afternoon students gather in Mr. Kistler's room 136 to sharpen their skills and test their talents against each other on the chessboard. Knights and queens strategically maneuver in a dance of wits as players try to outmatch one another, the end goal, that ever-elusive declaration, "Checkmate!"

When asked why he enjoyed being in chess club Justin Kovatch (Junior) responded, "because when you're at chess club, you find yourself in a cool place to hang out and have a blast."

Chess Club

What do you like most about chess club?

"I love the atmosphere when I work in. It is one that you always feel welcome in there."

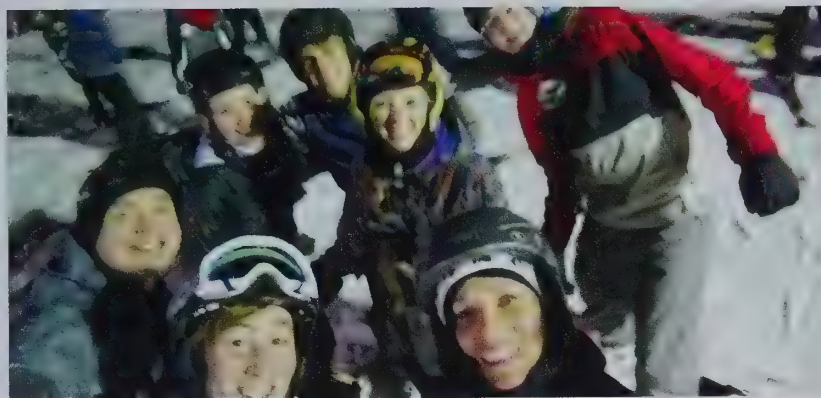

-Ryan Hall (11)

When Mr. Kistler was asked what his favorite part of Chess Club was, he answered, "The students that attend are extremely accepting because most people who are there, are there to learn, and have fun."

The mood in room 136 is focused as Chess Club engages in their first tournament of the 2015/2016 school year.

Ski Club

Penn High Bowling

Kevin Griebler's success after he won the 1st Bowl for Veterans. He threw 7 E's, bowled everyone that year over the year line. "I bowled an average of 130, but my best game was 160. This year, she won with 100% on the line. They said for anyone that wants to keep bowling, 'Everyone's best game, they got to keep it!'

These little Penn bowlers have all been put to the test this season. They practice two hours every week and their season is from November to January. This was made it all the way to fourth in sectional! Cameron and Sean then ended up making it to regional! Rob Durski, Head Coach, says, "Always throw your second ball first!"

Boys: Jerry Barmette, Brandon Bernac, Jacob Shapland, Sean Sullivan, Cameron Wood, Nicholas Knoblock, and Benjamin Strickie

Senior, Sarah Weeks, shares, "Every frame is a new frame." Sarah has bowled for 4 years and wants to join a league after high school.

Salt & Light

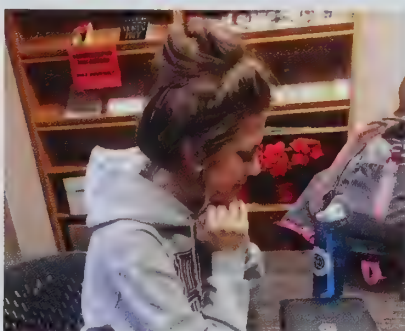

Growing Great by Dreams

Salt & Light is a student led, faith-based organization that meets on Thursday mornings each week. They focus on reaching out to students and broadening their relationships with each other and their faith. They study the Bible, do prayer walks throughout the school, and perform several acts of service to their fellow classmates. Each week the leaders try to set forth a challenge for the club members to set goals in their faith and share their love of God with their peers.

"Salt & Light is a place to enter into discussion about God, in an environment where tangible steps can be taken." -Spencer Kilmer (11)

"It's been such a privilege to have the opportunity to share our faith and experience God's love together, and I'm excited to see how God will continue to change lives at Penn High School." -Suzie Miley (12)

"Penn Quiz Bowl is not just about winning or losing; it's mainly about the friendships and camaraderie that develops through playing and practicing together over the course of a season. The greatest thing about our Quiz Bowl team is the conduct of the team members themselves; they are friendly, bright, funny, and respectful, and take their roles as representatives of Penn High School very seriously. I am frequently complimented by opposing coaches and officials with regard to how well the team handles itself in an opponent's building. The consistent quality of character they display is what makes me proudest of our team." -Scott Thompson (Head Coach)

Quiz Bowl

"Practices are question and answer format, with timers and buzzers, while students quiz each other from past match questions or quiz books. The team has a lot of fun, it can get loud or noisy at times and I like to keep it loose, but encourage everyone to get better at the game. There is a Varsity and JV team."

Think Different

Penn Quiz Bowl is a school vs. school academic competition where teams of four buzz in and answer questions posed by a reader on a wide variety of topics, ranging from geography, fine arts, math and history to mythology, sports, movies, and pop music. There are toss-up questions, 60-second and "lightning" round questions, and bonus rounds. With 25 members, the Penn Quiz Bowl team is part of the St. Joseph Valley Quiz Bowl League, and they play home and away matches against the South Bend schools (Adams, Clay, Riley, Washington, and St. Joseph) as well as Marian and Mishawaka. Each contest features two matches, one for the varsity team and one for the JV team. The home matches are in LG1-A, starting in mid-October.

Five teams from Penn High School qualified for the nationals in the Tests of Engineering Aptitude, Mathematics and Science competition. The nationals are scheduled for June 28-July 1 in Nashville, Tenn. Sponsored by Penn High School Math instructor Becky Tagliaferri, Penn students excelled in the regional TEAMS competition. Each team consists of eight students working together to solve an engineering problem. The regional competition has two parts, the awards were for part one, and part two is a written/design portion. "I am so proud of these students and their desire to learn about engineering," Tagliaferri said of Penn's national qualifiers. "This really says a lot about our math/science program here at Penn." Handwritten Hearts

Morgan Ludwig

"We are a non-profit, volunteer organization that works to spread acts of kindness through handwritten cards. Every month we handwrite letters to patients in hospital wards such as Renal, Oncology, General Surgery, etc. We deliver the cards with seasonal gifts through our incredible volunteers. We also work to create activity bags and holiday cards for pediatric patients. Overall, we are committed to spreading joy and happiness, from the heart. You have to have a big heart and like to write because for much of our monthly meeting we're writing cards. There might be three or four templates, so we don't necessarily have to compose something different each time, but we are writing and offering notes of encouragement. Being in the hospital has got to be a stressful time, and it's just nice to bring a smile to someone's face."

Mic Drop

What began as a brainstorm for fundraising ideas in a publications class quickly evolved into Reality Cafe, a part coffee shop, part poetry slam, part open mic event. On April 21st, 2016, the IMC was darkened and strung with Christmas lights to create a fun atmosphere. Students moved couches and chairs in a semicircle around a stage, and served up Rise n' Roll and coffee while baring their hearts and souls. Guests were treated to poetry, story telling, and even a rap battle or two. Despite this being the first time for an event like this, patrons filled the library to standing room only, and the evening was a success.

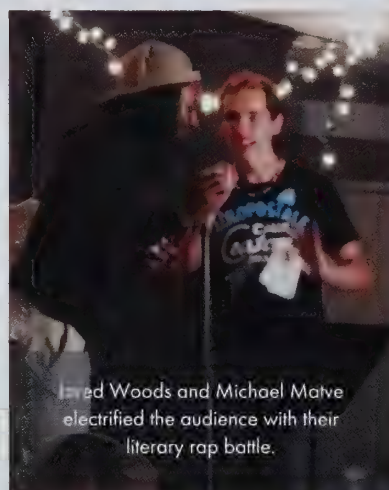

Reality Cafe

Leah Weaver's calm presence contributes to the hopeful mood of her piece titled "Incapable."

Jared Woods and Michael Matve electrified the audience with their literary rap battle.

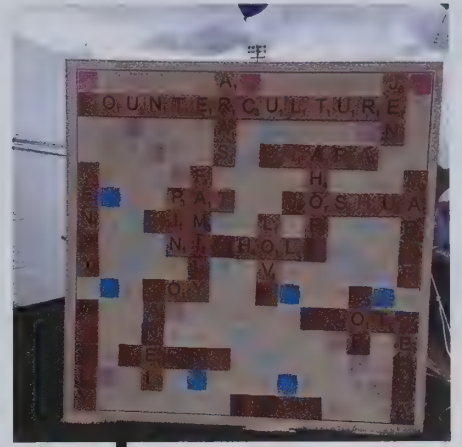

Kim Fulmer brought us to tears with the raw honesty of her narrative titled "Perfect." Kim's piece won a National Silver Key in last year's Scholastic Art and Writing contest.

Play Ball

The Relay For Life for Mishawaka/ South Bend has 63 teams and 567 participants. People will walk the track at Mishawaka High School on May 14-15 for a 24 hour walk from 10am to 10am the next day. It is an overnight, community fundraising walk which raised over $7,100. Cancer survivors are celebrated, lost loved ones are remembered, and funds are raised to support the American Cancer Society mission. Penn went with the theme "Scrabble" this year, building an 8x8 foot real life board to play.

Relay For Life

The Relay For Life is a year long fundraiser that has raised over $100,000. Many people donated to the event and it was a great success.

"The American Cancer Society is a great organization and it was a great experience to be a part of it." - Ms. Cravens

◀ Viva Voce

New to Penn this year, Viva Voce is an auditioned choral ensemble that meets as a class on Gold days. Viva Voce means "living voices," which serves as a testament to the group, which performs pieces mainly from living composers, and even commissions a piece each year from an up-and-coming composer to help contribute more music to the world. Viva Voce had several performances this year, including their own headlining concert in November, as well as a performance of Will Todd's Mass in Blue in March. They also perform with the other Penn choirs at their spring and fall concerts.

Viva Voce

Neil Bakshi, Kyle Bartalone, Josh Beckett, Alyse Caurro, Tiwin Chackochan, Andrew Claeys, Jewel Eyestone, Caylor Gongwer, Cassidy Guros, Elizabeth Heisler, Mia Heisler, Lizzie Jansen, Delaney Jarrett, Alexis Kruszewski, Truth Lawson, Carrington Neal, Rachel Page, Rachel Peters, Allie Piatt, Chad Piatt, Abigail Pitts, Connor Russell, Ashley Szumski, Taiyo Teraji, Zach Varmette, Bryce Yoder, Josh Zachary

Chamber Choir is an elite auditioned group that is unique to the Penn Choir because they sing as well as dance popular music, and perform outside of the traditional concert setting. Each member of this group takes Chamber Choir as an additional elective as well as another advanced choir, showing their commitment and dedication to this group. They perform on a music tour around all the PHM elementary and middle schools, as well as perform at several area nursing homes.

Penn Choirs in IRELAND

Every two years, Penn Choir has the opportunity to travel and perform as a group, and this year was no exception. Over spring break, the choir traveled abroad to Ireland, and performed in iconic venues such as St. Patrick's Cathedral in Dublin, as well as toured all over the country taking in the sights and sounds of the culture. Over 70 students flew from Chicago O'Hare to Shannon, Ireland on March 30, leaving behind snowy weather and cell phone service back in Indiana. For six days, they traveled throughout Ireland, visiting places such as Clonmacnoise, an ancient ruin, medieval castles, and they even visited a museum dedicated to Barack Obama! Students were able to immerse themselves in the Irish culture and learn about the relaxed European way of life.

"Ireland is where strange tales begin and happy endings are possible."

Day 1: Although only a 6 hour flight, it took almost 20 hours of traveling from Penn to Ireland!

Day 2: The choir was thankful that their first performance at Kylemore Abbey was indoors because it rained all day.

Day 3: The choir also got to visit an ancient cave in the midlands of Ireland.

Day 4: Some choir members enjoyed tea with Mr. Holaway Sr. at Bunratty Castle.

Day 5: When in Dublin, the students were given a few hours of free time to explore the city!

Day 6: Penn Choir members posing after an active day playing Gaelic Games.

(above) The CPA was transformed into a space wonderland for the Fall 2015 Orchestra Concert. The CPA had a make-shift Saturn and other planets floating to set the vibe for the space-themed music that the Orchestra was performing.

The 2015-16 school year was a big one for the Penn Orchestra with the big trip to New York to a stellar performance at state. This group of kids will be one to remember for Ms Cravens & Mr Oke.

NEW YORK TRIP

April 1-4

The Orchestra took a trip to New York over Spring Break to watch a show on Broadway and play a piece at St. Sinai Hospital. The group also visited many other attractions such as 30 Rock, 9-11 Memorial and Central Park. Overall the group had an amazing time on their trip.

Penn Orchestra: In Space

Mr Oke:

Even though I enjoy the music and the concerts, my favorite things are moments with individuals. Either they conquer some piece of music, or play something better than ever before, or even just share a story about life. It's been my honor to be part of their lives and have them be such a big part of mine.

Ms Cravens:

My favorite thing about being an Orchestra teacher is working with students in one of my favorite subjects. To see them strive for something or fall in love with a piece of music is invaluable.

Penn Orchestra 2015-2016

"My favorite thing about orchestra is how different everyone is, but once we begin to play we all are unified and contribute what we can to every piece of music making it our own"

-Joanne Stochitoiu

"My favorite part of orchestra is mentoring Schmucker students once a week! It's fun to see their progress!"

-Morgan Ludwig

Penn Bands

Symphonic Winds

Teacher: Mr Northern

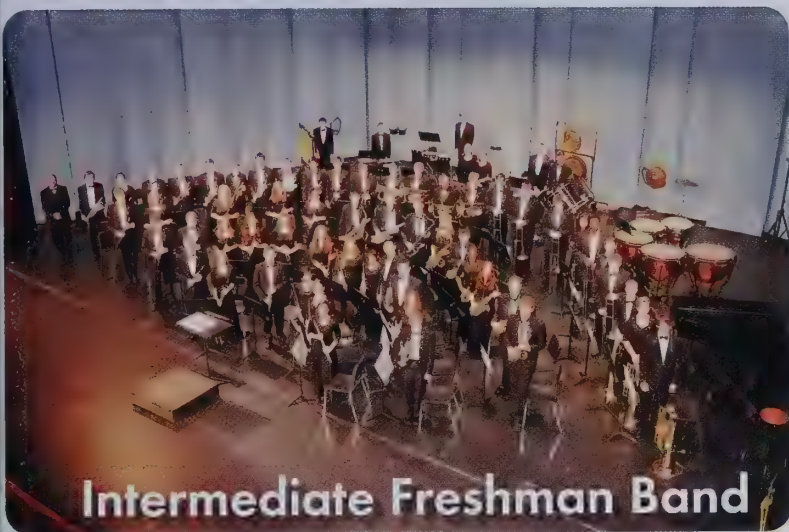

The Penn Band Program had yet another impressive year. After countless hours of practice, five different concert bands with over 400 students all together performed four amazing concerts this season. Concert, Intermediate & Advanced Freshman all recived gold at ISSMA, and the Symphoic Winds advanced to be State Finalists.

Jazz Band

The Penn Jazz Band had another successful year. Director, Mr Leather and the group traveled to Savannah, Georgia for a chance to attend the Swing Central Jazz Festival down there. The group played a handful of performances from playing with Viva Voce, to Jazz! at the Palace. Each year, Penn Jazz Band gets bigger and better, and this year was no exception.

The Jazz Band had the chance to play with jazz legend drummer Dana Hall for the February Jazz at the Palace Concert.

Pep Band

Filling the Palace with energy every home game

Our Pep Band does a fantastic job of pumping up the fans at home basketball games at the Palace. It is not uncommon to see kids dancing and clapping to the enthusiastic tunes. Mr. Pauslen energetically directs Pep Band, filling the Palace with excitement for the home team.

The energy from this group isn't only heard from the hardwood floor of the Palace, but it is visible as well.

Evan Poling (12)

What are your jobs as a manager?

"My actual job as manager is classified. What I can tell you is that we help the coaches and players with what they need, and we do the "behind the scenes" work."

What have you learned as a manager?

"I have learned responsibility, organization, respect, and how to work as a team."

Seniors Tyler Seger and Gunther Dittich run down the court, teaming up to make a potential point.

When asked what the most slam dunk moment this year was, Senior Matt Trowella answered, "Hanging out everyday with the team."

Got Game? Like every season, this one began with an uphill battle. The first few opponents proved to be a tough lesson for the Kingsmen, but they went back to practice and made improvements. The strategy brought them success with convincing wins over Clay, Concord, and Elkhart Memorial. The Kingsmen pushed through tough competition while overcoming struggles and nail-biter endings, but these struggles brought them closer as a team and propelled them forward. Their perseverance took them to sectionals after a hard-fought season. The Kingsmen won the first round of sectionals, but their final opponent was Warsaw. With a good portion of the team returning next year, the Kingsmen will be ready for the fresh set of challenges they may face next season.

Senior Ben Knutson

was asked "How is basketball like a movie?" He answered, "Basketball isn't so much a movie as it is a marathon. The season is not a sprint and you need to keep your eyes on the goal and focused throughout."

Senior Tyler Seger

was asked if he could tell us all about Coach Rhodes. He answered, "Coach Rhodes is a world class coach and person, and playing for him has taught me a lot about basketball and even more about life."

Coach's Corner

When asked what he hopes his players gain from being on the team, Coach Rhodes said, "I hope they gain mental toughness and learn how to pursue excellence in all facets of their life!"

Junior Matt McCown stopping a layup from the opposing Washington competition.

Junior Brian Doslak moves up the court, telling the team what play they will be running.

Impact Performers

Noah's phenomenal athleticism and dunking ability was integral in his team's success. His continued displays of dominance earned him major minutes on the varsity squad.

-Noah Krathwohl (10)

As a freshman, Drew was a floor general. He led his team in assists and displayed excellent leadership on his way to earning varsity minutes.

-Drew Lutz (9)

Coach's Corner

Coach Sierzputowski, faced with one of his youngest rosters yet, taught the team the necessary maturity and intangibles required for success.

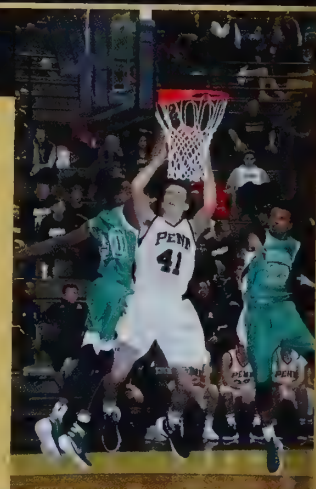

Young. Poised. Motivated. The Junior Varsity Kingsmen came into the season with high hopes of success even though they had a fair share of adversity. Some feared they lacked experience due to a core of five freshman, five sophomores, and two juniors, but Coach Sierzputowski pushed the Kingsman to their limits, allowing them to surpass the level of maturity needed to succeed in the NIC Conference. However, this maturity was soon put to the test as injuries and subpar play looked to derail any chance they had at achieving a winning record. Seven games into the season, sophomore Samuel Padrnos suffered a gruesome knee injury, and their record sat at 6-8 through their first 14 games. Instead of allowing all of this misfortune to hamper the final stretch of their season, the team rallied together and began to dominate their opponent in nearly every statistical category imaginable. Early on, while it looked as though they would settle for a mark of below .500, the team exhibited mental toughness and finished the final 8 game stretch with a 6-2 record. In turn, the Kingsmen finished with an impressive 9-3 NIC record and 12-10 overall record. Throughout the season, they displayed grit, leadership, and tenacity, all of which were essential in allowing them to live up to their successful expectations.

"Watching the games from the bench was a different feeling since I was injured, but I still enjoyed cheering my teammates on and providing motivation."

-Sam Padrnos (10)

State Champions

"The opportunity to go to state was amazing, one that this team truly deserved. But, winning state was beyond what words can even describe." -Coach Ulrich

The Road to a S

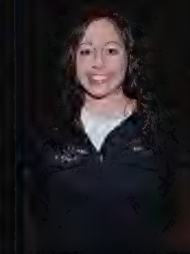

Stepping Off of Home Court...

PGBB went to team dinners at players' houses, Columbus North Tournament, Jonathan Byrd's Fieldhouse (Met Bonzi Wells), U93 Station, IHop, The Brick, Spiece Fieldhouse, Morris Park Country Club, Bucca Di Beppo, Mishawaka City Hall, Coach Snoeyink's (JV coach) wedding, and Bankers Life Fieldhouse for state!

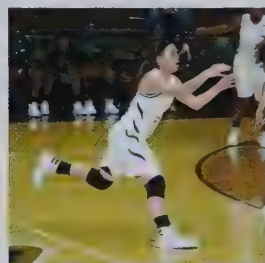

This season ended with a record of 28-2. Because there were seven seniors, the team experienced a tremendous amount of leadership from them. Coach Kristi Ulrich believes that due to the starting point guard, Kaitlyn Marenzi, being injured and unable to play, the team was forced to step-up and take on new roles in order to maintain a high level of success. When Coach Ulrich was asked what her favorite thing about coaching this team was, she responded by saying, "The way they responded to tournament time. Their level of focus, toughness, and belief elevated to a whole new level." This season was astounding for the Lady Kingsmen with their passion and hearts in the game. Advice to the graduating seniors from Coach Ulrich: "A dream written down with a date becomes a goal. A goal broken down into steps becomes a plan. A plan backed action makes your dreams come true."

Coach's Corner

"Winning state was so amazing. Realizing that all of the hard work and effort finally paid off was so gratifying. My favorite parts of winning state were watching the floor after the final buzzer, hugging my mom, and celebrating in the locker room."
-Kristi Kanieski-Ulrich (Head Coach)

As the Penn Girls Basketball team left for state, Coach Harper got the entire school to give the girls a great send-off on their way down to state. On the way down, every little thing the girls pointed out was a "sign" that this was their year to win state and make history. Once the girls arrived, they celebrated the JV coach's birthday at Bucca Di Beppo in the Cardinal Room; the girls came up with a chant and everything for the room they were in. Later on, the team went to practice at Bankers Life Fieldhouse. For the Seniors, that was their very last Penn practice. When the day comes to suit up one last time in those Penn varsity jerseys, the girls were thirsty for their blue rings. The starters took the floor and had the lead of the game the entire time. The final buzzer sounded and the small, yet mighty, Penn fan section went wild, while the Columbus North fan section went home with the red. Emotions ran high as the PGBB players were given the state championship plaque. That day will be a day that Penn will never forget because not only did they win state, but they made Penn High School history as the first girls basketball team to win state!

"The advice I would give to someone playing basketball would be to make sure you are a team player because the girls are your second family, and to prepare to make tough decisions on and off the court."

-Janessa Chesnic (11)

"The funniest moment with my team this season was when I randomly fell on court; the team had a good laugh at that!"

-Kiera Phillips (9)

"This season was really fun, and interesting! I got to play with some of my best friends, and I definitely learned a lot. Not just about basketball, but things I can use in every day life."

-Hannah Bobo (9)

In it to win it! The girls had an amazing season, working long hard hours to make their plays perfect. Junior Varsity practiced with Varsity to improve their skills and give them a challenge. The Freshmen girls practice together as a team and worked hard until practice was over. Outside of practice, the girls sold Yankee Candles to raise money for their athletic equipment and uniforms. During the holiday season they adopted a family and supported them by buying them gifts for the upcoming holiday. The teams bonded by having team dinners every night before games. They went to support the other Penn boys and girls basketball games to cheer them on. The teams had sleep overs while enjoying watching movies, eating junk food, and singing karaoke.

The girls worked hard on Offense to get a win for Penn.

Favorite Memory

Junior Cheyenne Brickley says, "One of my favorite memories from the year is hanging out with the girls on the team and making funny inside jokes."

During the dog days of summer, the Penn Poms are honing their dance skills at a week long boot camp. Before students walk in on the first day, these girls have been leaping, spinning, and choreographing routines to perform during the school year. These determined girls rehearse at least twice a week for a few hours, even adding rehearsals if needed. Their season begins when the boy's basketball games begin, performing at half time. Not only do they perform during the basketball games, these hard working girls travel to competitions. They compete in invitationals as well as regional's to qualify for state. The Kingsmen cheered on the Competition Poms team as they left the school to head to state the Friday before. This year the Lady Kingsmen performed at state the 12th of March and came home with 3rd place. They finished off their successful season by performing at Bethel College for the Indiana High School All-State Basketball Game. Junior Gabrielle Lovisa says, "Coach Minegar is a very hard-working person who is always pushing us to our fullest potential and helping us improve each practice. In the long run she is always looking out for our best interest and we love her so much! "

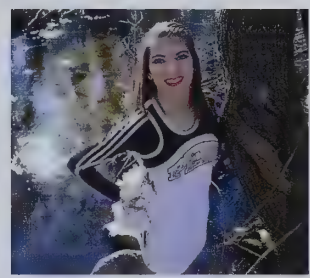

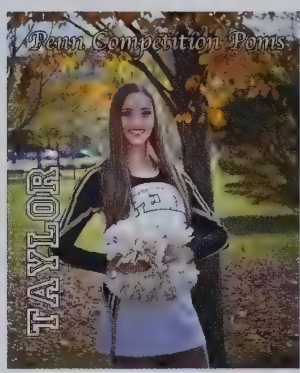

"What will you miss most about Competition Poms?"

Senior Haley Makoswki says, "I will miss spending time with my team and getting to meet new people. I will also miss performing at basketball games and competitions."

Senior Jessica Lee says, "I'm really going to miss all the people I've met through poms as well as just all the fun traditions that come with being part of the team."

Senior Taylor Szabo says, "The thing I will miss the most about Competition Poms will be spending a whole day around dance, something we all love and enjoy with my best friends. I will miss the amazing feeling we get when all of our hard work pays off."

Senior Kimber Powers says, "I'm going to miss all of the laughs our team has shared and our inside jokes from the competitions and practices. But I'm also going to miss learning new parts of our dances and performing for the crowd. Looking back and seeing the improvement we'd made as a team from the first competition to the last shows all of the hard work and effort put into this season from all of the girls."

Junior Callan Okrzesik says, "My favorite memory from competition poms this year was growing as a team and having everyone's back."

The Penn Varsity and Junior Varsity poms teams have had a great season this year, practicing two days each week for at least two hours a night. Following a week of summer bootcamp, months of practice turned in to performances at basketball games where the girls hit each step in unison. One of the things the team did this season to bond was get together at teammates' houses to have team dinners before games. They learned three routines this season with their coach picking both music and cheorography. Tryouts for the next season are on April 18th and practices begin in September.

Got Spirit? The Varsity, Junior Varsity, and Freshmen cheerleaders made #squadgoals cheering on the boys and girls basketball teams this year. The varsity squad consisted of 13 girls, while the JV squad consisted of 14, and the freshmen consisted of 9. The girls enthusiastically cheered on basketball players each game hoping to get them and the crowd fired up. The varsity cheerleaders traveled to state with the girls varsity basketball team to cheer them on to winning the state title. Overall the cheerleading season was a success for all the girls and they can't wait for next year.

Most Memorable Moment

"My most memorable moment was being the anchor leg on our 200 freestyle relay, and beating out Riley by just hundredths of a second to get 3rd in the race and have 2 of our relays in the top 3 at NIC."

-Jacob Powell (12)

"Last season at state when I was on the 400 freestyle relay and we broke the school record or at sectionals last year when I dropped 8 seconds to take 3rd in the 200 free."

-Michael Knutson (11)

The Kingsmen made a splash this year claiming their ninth straight NIC title under coach Jess Preston, who was voted coach of the year. The boys worked extremely hard practicing six out of seven days a week before and after school with two meets almost every week. It surely showed at the NIC where the boys racked up a total of 577 points to claim first place for Penn. Seniors, Anthony Vernasco, Parker Brandenburg, Kyle Morris and Sophomore, Axel Brandenburg took first place for Penn in the 200 Medley relay. Seniors, Kyle Morris, Parker Brandenburg, James Kempa, and Junior, Michael Knutson claimed another victory for Penn in the 200 freestyle relay. The final victory for Penn came when Anthony Vernasco, James Kempa, Michael Knutson, and Axel Brandenburg won the 400 freestyle relay. As if that wasn't enough, Anthony Vernasco and Kyle Morris each took first place in two individual events, taking home a total of four, first place metals each.

It's safe to say that the swimming Kingsmen made quite the wave this season.

Think your workout is hard? Try doing it while holding your breath. These girls barely know what it means to be warm and dry between October and February. They are in the pool before the sun comes up each morning, and they are back doing laps after school. The dedication to their sport, combined with sore muscles and a constant chlorine smell culminated in not only another successful season, but one where the depth of this team far surpassed all the competition in our area. Not one opponent in our conference could touch this team as they won another NIC Championship, a trip to state, and an overall 8th place ranking.

"Never stop fighting 'til the fight is done. Never." -Coach Harper

After a terrific season in which the Kingsmen were crowned state champions, they looked to carry the momentum into this year. Throughout the season Coach Harper taught his team the importance of setting goals, working hard, and overcoming adversity, all of which were necessary in giving the Kingsmen the opportunity to repeat as Indiana State Champions. While they might have come up short in their quest, the team finished with an impressive 13-2 record and crowned Drew Hildebrandt as an individual state champion. Coach Rhoads was proud of his team and enjoyed watching their progression throughout the year: "We had really good kids that were fun to watch and worked very hard." Overall it was another highly productive year for the Kingsmen under Coach Harper's tenure. Not only did the coaching staff develop the team into a state powerhouse, but they also developed the wrestlers into young men who look to implement the life skills they were taught.

Coaches' Corner

Coach Harper

"I'm proud of the entire team for working hard all season. This was a great year and I couldn't be more proud of them."

Coach Rhoads

"This team is so close and so hardworking, it's great to see all their hard work pay off."

South Bend Tribune feature on Evan Light

reprinted with permission from Al Lesar

Perceptive and engaging beyond his years, the 16-year-old is well past the self-conscious stage when it comes to reactions to having lost both his legs about 18 inches below the knee.

How'd it happen?

"You want me to tell you what I tell people, or the truth?" said Light, with a mischievous smile.

OK, I'll bite. What's the story?

"Shark attack!" he said with a loud chuckle.

And... the truth?

As a baby in his native India, Light was in a serious car accident in which he lost both legs.

"I was so young, I never knew what it was like to have legs," Light said.

An advantage.

Shortly after the accident, which claimed his birth mother, Evan was adopted by Randy and Jennifer Light and brought to South Bend. By sixth grade, the family had moved into the Penn district and Evan discovered wrestling.

"When I first started, I had foam and duct tape" around the stumps of his legs, Light said. "It wasn't very pretty, but it got the job done."

Outside of the wrestling room, Light, who has a 3.3 GPA, looks like any other clueless freshman while walking the halls with prosthetics. IHSAA rules don't allow wrestlers to use prosthetics. That's OK. Light's speed, agility and low center of gravity on his stumps — outfitted with custom-designed shoes — actually give him an advantage over able-bodied wrestlers.

"When he's in a neutral position (facing his opponent), Evan has an edge because he's lower," said Steve Stahl, the owner/manager of Rockstar Health and Performance, who works with all the Penn wrestlers. "His problem is finishing (after the takedown). He doesn't have the leverage to finish a guy off for the pin, so he has to do other moves."

Penn won the 2015 state wrestling title and was a contender on the final day this year. Freshmen, especially those without feet, don't normally make an immediate impact in a program loaded with talent.

Light posted a 14-7 varsity record, but wasn't part of the tournament team that made the run at the repeat. Just getting that seasoning against top-notch competition will pay dividends down the road.

"I saw something in Evan when he was in sixth grade (club wrestling) that told me he was going to be special," said Penn coach Brad Harper.

Harper didn't notice anything from the waist down. All he saw was heart.

"The determination, the work ethic, that's what you see from the guys who are going to be special in your program," Harper said. "When he steps onto the mat, Evan doesn't care who you are. He's confident in his ability."

"My plan is to work hard and get good on top (in a wrestling position)," Light said. "I will never have leverage. But, I will always have the attitude that I'm not going to stay down."

Stay positive.

Attitude, as they say, is everything.

At such a tender age, Light has come to realize that he — and only he — controls his perception of the world around him. That has played a significant role in his development.

"I've never said, 'Why me?'" Light said. "I look around and see people who are much worse off than I am."

"If you think negative thoughts, you're not going to do well. If you think positive thoughts, you will do well."

"I never think about what it would be like to have feet. No reason to complain because I'll never get it. Why waste my time being negative?"

Stahl said that, while Light is working out with his teammates at Rockstar, occasionally the gym's regular clients will comment about him being an inspiration to them. His work ethic and intensity immediately grab their attention.

"The best part about this season was spending time on and off the ice with the team." - Jordan Lindzy (10)

Justin Savage (11) is sharp on the draw in all of his games he plays in. He wears his two brothers numbers on his jersey as well as his own (25, 5, & 1).

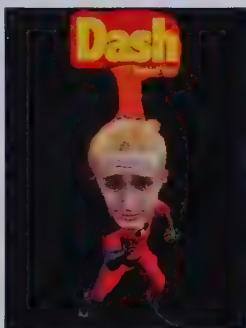

"When the puck drops, we all drop." - AJ Crawford (11)

The Penn Boys Hockey Team managed to finish the season with an exceptional record. During the season, they had more games nights of different hours than Wednesday's. When the hockey season would pause, the boys would get bored and play hockey in basements or they would even play sand hockey. The team's chemistry and strong determination led them to a successful season, concluding at the State Championship Game. Before state, all of the teammates but Tate Savage and Tate Seroczynski dyed their hair blonde because they got bored and have more fun. Tate Savage invited all his friends to support the team. The boys played hard and managed to be ranked up in the ISHFA league. It was an exceptional season!

Throughout the season, the boys would pick on each other. For the last game (state), Will Carey dyed his hair and became Dash from the Incredibles.

SNOWBALL

Hollywood's Back!

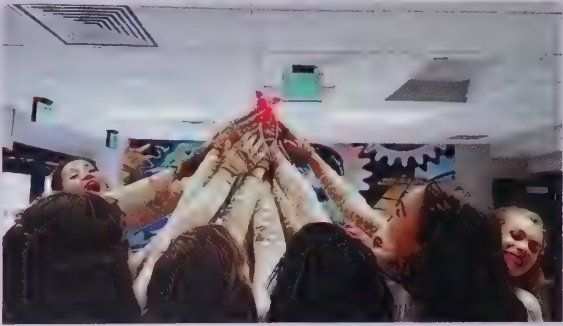

On Sunday, January 18, approximately 500 couples dressed up in their red-carpet finest and braved the wintry weather for a fun night of dancing and partying. The PTO worked hard to transform Penn into the Hollywood Hills, complete with a Golden Oscar, red carpet entrance, and paparazzi. There were tunes, coffee, italian soda, and smoothies were also available to students. It was a fancy yet fun way to break up winter.

Winter Guard

Got Silk?

Varsity Winterguard gets together before a competition with their "good luck charm" hoping to gain some luck from the stuffed pig.

All groups through out the season had different themes. Varsity 1 was "Angels in the Wings." Varsity 2 was "Shadow." Junior Varsity 1 was "Finding Their Hearts." Junior Varsity 2 was "Puppets." and Cadet was "Flower Girls." Hannah Heilman shared, "work hard in silence, let success be your noise."

Many group pictures of Varsity 1 Winterguard display them hitting the "dab" It seemed like their signature move.

Winterguard girls can't contain their smiles as they perform their routine.

Penn's Winterguard struts their stuff and lands the tenth place spot.

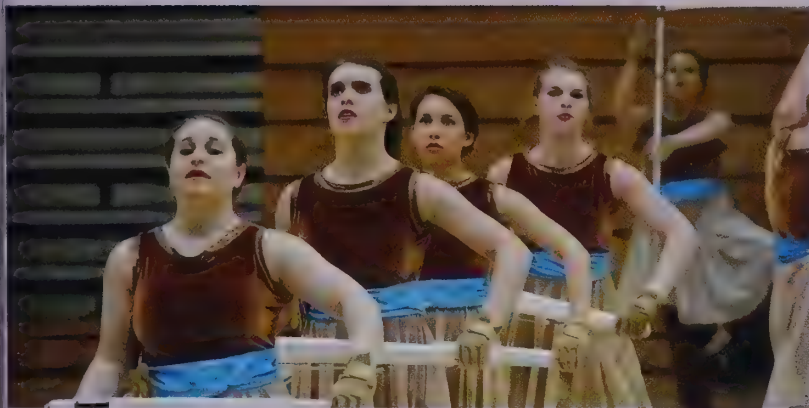

Varsity 1 and Varsity 2 group pictures. The relationships they've formed through out the whole season are ones that they will never forget and will cherish forever.

Junior Varsity 1 putting on their show, "Finding their hearts."

Twirling, Swooping, Spinning

Shadow.

Varsity 2 put on a performance of their show "Shadow". "It's revolved around a father leaving his son, but then returning at the end." Senior Joe Polizzotto told us when we asked him what his show was about. They landed themselves in the top ten.

Finding Their Hearts.

Junior Varsity 1 put on a show, themed with robots trying to find their hearts. It shows the hardships of the "robots" trying to channel their inner emotions. They ended up in the top 17.

"My favorite part about Winterguard is the relationships that I've formed with the girls that are involved in Winterguard."
-Jordan Mosser (12)

"Our last competition was my favorite memory, because we had a no drop run and everyone was happy and hugging."
-Mikayla Ford (12)

"I like bus rides because we have conversations and get closer as a team."
-Anyssa Grover (12)

Meet the Seniors

Dancing, Catching, Living

Twirlers.

Varsity Winterguards perform their routine which they've been practicing for months, landing them in tenth place through out the whole state!

A pig named Petunia.

When asked if they had any rituals or good luck charms, Senior Mary Seel responded with, "Well this year we got a little pig, it sounds dumb but it's a dog toy that's shaped like a pig and we named it and gave it angel wings (to go along with their theme Angel in the Wings)" The little pig named Petunia gave them enough luck to conquer all.

Juniors

Junior year sees the shift from a social mind set to an academic mind set. We are starting to prepare for college as well as SAT, ACT, and AP tests.

Springing forward.

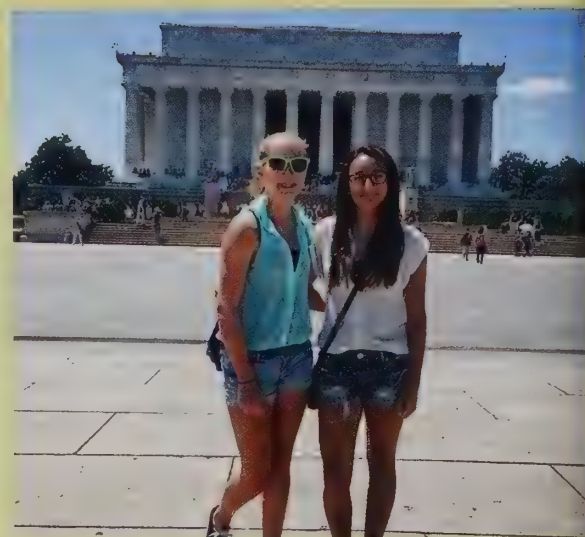

SPRING.

Spring Ahead.

After a mild winter, spring started up slowly. On Spring break, it snowed here in Mishawaka, Indiana. This snowfall was a record. The Penn Choir group flew over to Ireland during Spring Break and sung at Saint Patrick's Cathedral. Spring 2016 was crunch time for many Penn students. Once students got back, it was time for the finals and SAT/ACT/AP tests. Along with tests and stress, Penn Stock kicked off right before the end of the year. Girls' Rugby made it to nationals!! Prom at the Century Center was such a glamorous night with Brodey Balsley and Mikaylah Woods being crowned King and Queen. The class of 2016 Graduation finished the 2015-2016 year at Penn. Congratulations, Seniors!

The Penn choir's trip to Ireland. Daniel Yu and Josh Backhus in front of Saint Patrick's Cathedral.

On portraying such a well-known character:
 "It was definitely not something I took lightly. Everyone who knows Disney knows George Banks, so there's certain aspects of pressure associated with bringing such an iconic role to life."

-Bryce Yoder, 11.

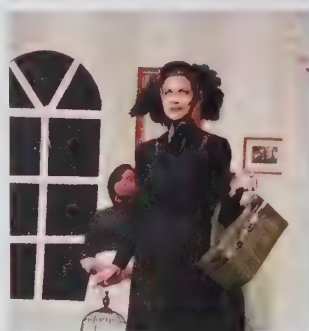

Mary Poppins

"Anything can happen if you let it."

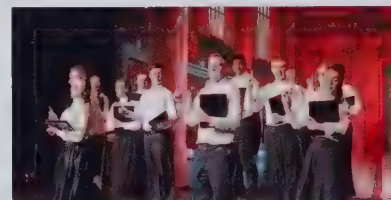

On March 4, 5, and 6, 2016, Penn Theatre took the stage in the school's spring musical, Mary Poppins. Based on the classic Disney film, the stage version of Mary Poppins tells the tale of a family from London, England who can't quite seem to get along. Suddenly a nanny named Mary Poppins appears seemingly out of thin air and with her use of songs and games, brings the Banks family together as a happy, closeknit family. Penn had extreme success with the show, even selling out their final performance!

Our Very Own Mary

When talking to Reagan Stohler, 12, about her portrayal of Mary Poppins in this year's musical, it was obvious that she was very excited to be playing the role. Stohler had previously been in a production of Mary Poppins where she played Winifred Banks, but landing the role of Mary Poppins had since been a dream of hers. She shared that "it was a humbling and amazing experience. It's still surreal in all honesty." When asked about her favorite part of the show, Reagan said that "flying was so cool! It was terrifying at first, but it was so worth it. I can definitely check it off of my bucket list for sure."

"In every job that must be done,
there is an element of fun." - Mary Poppins

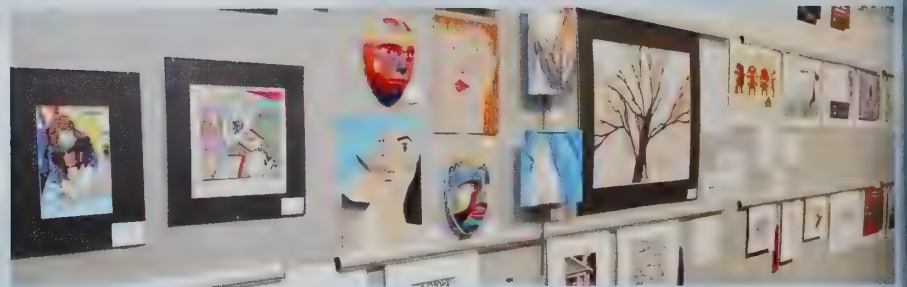

"Portraying such a well-known character is always going to take more than originating a character. You have to really study and become the character, as well as all of the little things that make the character so iconic. With Bert, it was his quirkiness and mannerisms that set the character in place for me."

-Broderick Balsley, 12.

Penn High School students are fortunate to have access to an outstanding Fine Arts program. Students take advantage of the opportunity to create and express themselves through drawing, painting, photography, sculpture, graphic design, and creative writing with some of the most dedicated and enthusiastic instructors. Student work is annually entered into the Scholastic Art and Writing Competition where their work is measured against student work from Northern Indiana. Judges award Gold and Silver Keys as well as Honorable Mentions, and then students compete nationally. Their work is displayed at Century Center in South Bend, Fort Wayne Museum of Modern Art, as well as Penn's own Art Gallery. The Kingsmen Art Gallery has different shows throughout the year featuring both student and professional art work. The Gallery is staffed by student docents and is open to students, staff, and the public.

Building Trades

"This gives you lots of experience and helps you know and understand what you'll be doing if you want to pursue that career when you're older."

-Noah Zachary (11)

If you look at the structure you call "home," chances are that it wasn't built by a high school student, but that is exactly what can be said about the beautiful new house that students in Building Trades built. "On the second day of school, we broke ground on this," explained Senior Jerry Barnette. "Poured the foundation, did the framing, plumbing, electrical, installed floors, laid carpet, roofing. All of it. Environmental science came in and did some of the landscaping too." And by May 20th, 2016, the house was ready to shine for the community and become a home to one lucky family.

Students gain valuable experience in construction in this hands-on project-based class. They learn about the financing and time involved in building a home as well as learning how to work with different contractors and state inspectors.

The 2016 year was another great year for the Kingsmen. By utilizing their strong defense, pitching, and electric offense, the Kingsmen finished the regular season with a record of 24-4. The Kingsmen finished with a record of 12-0 in their conference beating their main rival Mishawaka to win the conference outright 5-3. Another conference highlight was against SB Washington: Szkylar Szynski threw a no hitter, which was saved by Stesiak making an incredible throw to second on a ground ball from right field. Penn also dominated the two tournaments they played in while winning them both. Penn beat Plymouth in the Plymouth Tournament 10-1 to win, and beat Fort Wayne Snider 6-5 on a go ahead sacrifice squeeze to win their fourth Warsaw Tournament in a row ending their season just like last year. This year saw Penn hosting their first sectional in school history, and the Kingsmen didn't hesitate to start out strong. With Szynski on the mound, Penn opened their first sectional game with a win over Warsaw 10-0. Game 2 was a nail biter against Northridge, but Penn was able to get the win behind the dominant pitching of Brandon Stesiak 3-1. The Sectional finale was a thriller for Penn, down 5-0 after the top of the 1st, Penn chipped away to tie the game. Then in the bottom of the 7th, Ryan Lau lead off with a triple and then Luke Schneider delivered a walk-off single to give Penn another sectional title. The team fought through tough opponents at Regionals as well, earning them another trip to Semi-State. Fortune was not on their side, though, as Zionsville proved to be unbeatable this year, but what a solid ending to another amazing season. This well-established program will be back at it next year.

Coach Westra

Coach led his Junior Varsity team to a solid 20-5 record and displayed excellent leadership during the season.

Junior Varsity started off with a tough road ahead of them, but soon gained momentum as they beat Elkhart Memorial, Lake Shore, and Mishawaka. Lake Central, a top team in the state, posed a major threat to the Kingsmen during their season. While they may have come up just short of taking them down, the Kingsmen learned that they had the necessary components to upset the best of the best. Towards the end of the season, the Junior Varsity tournament was rapidly approaching and Penn's team was primed, focused, and ready to dominate the rest of the competition. After winning the tournament and taking home the trophy, Penn ended up finishing with solid winning record of 20-5. Overall, the Kingsmen learned that perseverance and team chemistry are necessary in constructing a successful program.

Ranked 10th in the nation!!!

Although the season got started late, the rain didn't stop the Lady Kingsmen from taking on the challenge of finishing the journey to State that was cut short last year at Semi-State. With the first couple of games being rescheduled again and again due to weather, the Lady Kingsmen still kept their spirit and hunger for victory and attacked their first opponent, Portage, with an 11-0 win. This win set the tone for the rest of the season where the Lady Kingsmen just bulldozed, unstoppable, through their schedule. Claiming the NIC Conference championship, it looked like the Lady Kingsmen were on their way to pursue the elusive blue rings. This triumph lead them to secure their place in Sectionals where they battled hard advancing to Regionals against Elkhart Memorial. Winning 11-0, they punched their ticket to Semi State where wins against both Zionsville and Munster took them to 4A State Final game against Avon. June 11th was a well-matched battle, and the Lady Kingsmen left their hearts on the field falling to Avon by 1 run, but they won the title of Class 4A State Runners Up as well as the hearts of their fans.

Season Summary The 2015-2016 Kingsmen Golfers began their season in the latter part of April looking to build on a successful season from the previous year. Each day the golfers would tee up and practice on the courses so they could become familiar with all the different types of scenarios and sceneries. While the boys were always looking to have fun and joke around, they knew when to turn the switch and tune in. This was essential in them having fun as well as success in their tournaments. The team was able to come away with victories at all of the following tournaments: Michigan City Invitational, Kaepler Memorial, Aberdeen Invitational, Sectional Championships, and NIC Championships. The team also came away with an individual champion at Sectionals as Ben Szklarek was able to achieve the lowest score at the tournament. Overall, the team was able to build on previous seasons and come away with a successful one themselves. The coaches and players had nothing to hang their heads on and were satisfied with the team's results.

Can You Ace It? The girls tennis team had an amazing season this year. The team consisted of 26 girls. They played a total of 14 games from April to May and ended the season 14-3. They played hard and strived to win as many games as they could. The girls grew together and formed a great bond with one another. "They stick with you through everything, are always supporting you, and just always made my nerves go away," said Carolyn Podawiltz, a sophomore on the junior varsity team. The girls endured long and hard practices through this year's season, but it made it all worthwhile when they won the IHSAA 2016 sectionals. The season was great and they can't wait to play it next year.

"My favorite part of tennis is going on weekend tournaments and bonding with my teammates."

The Boys' Track Team sprinted their way to the top of an N.I.C. championship during a successful season of training, sprinting, and hurdling through all opposing obstacles. In the beginning, the team struggled in a defeat against Warsaw; however, they came back with a victory against rival, Mishawaka Cavemen. From there, times dropped at meets such as Marian/Adams and Elkhart Central which was held at Riley. The Boys Track team continued to win all the way to the N.I.C. championship. Now the train that is the Boys Track Team set course for the Regional Championship. One athlete,

Matt McCown, advanced to State, placing 8th in the high jump.

"Always train to compete, then compete to win." -Anonymous

The Lady Kingsmen vaulted into their official season in style in a struggle against opposing team Warsaw. From their initial meet, the Lady Kingsmen showed off determination to win against schools like long time rival Mishawaka Cavemen. The rapid fire succession of victories meant that these girls had their eyes on an N.I.C. Championship. The date for the Championship approached and this team had no intention of slowing their momentum. Their competitiveness was paid with a trophy. Following N.I.C. the girls headed towards Regionals, facing tough competition from all over the region, but when the dust cleared, only the top eight teams remained and The Penn Girls Track Team was amongst them, placing a solid second place only a few points behind leading team Warsaw. Now the girls set on state. Mikaylah Woods jumped her way to a State Title with a 19' 2.5" leap, and the 4 X 800 meter relay of Lorena Daugherty, Emma Jankowski, Elli Mott, and Ashleigh Macleod also took a state championship with a time of 9:01.38.

What motivated you to do track?

Senior Karigan Green says, "My brother motivated me to do track. He did it in middle school and always came home talking about how much he loved it."

What advice do you have for incoming freshman wanting to participate in track next year?

Senior Alissa Richhart says, "To those of you who are wanting to do track next year, here is a piece of advice; DO IT! Track is such a beneficial experience that not only helps you athletically but socially and emotionally. You form so many great relationships with the other athletes and the coaches. In all honesty, yourself as a person improves because you learn so many skills; patience, determination, tolerance, and a work ethic. You gain things that you will definitely need later in life."

This year's lacrosse season began with a struggle, but the team prevailed and was able to compete at playoffs as 16th seed! The boys finished their season out with a respectable record of 9-9. The team bonded over their love of lacrosse and worked together to improve as a team. Underclassmen leadership shined through this season, and the future of Penn Kingsmen Lacrosse looks bright!

As Penn embarked on their journey this year, they changed previous traditions as they attempted to be the most successful team the Penn program has ever fielded. In their season opening tournament at Underwood, Penn came out on top as they defeated their in-state rival Indianapolis Cathedral with a score of 12-8. Penn carried this momentum all throughout the season into Midwest as they defeated all opponents except for a minor slip up against nationally ranked Xavier. In Midwest, Penn rather cruised through each opponent and eventually defeated LaSalette to earn the Midwest title and the #1 rank in the nation. For nationals, Penn traveled to Charlotte and defeated Greenwich 24-12 in their first game, but unfortunately lost to Sacramento Jesuit in their next game which led to a respectable 4th place finish. Penn would finish the season with a strong showing on state but unfortunately fall runner-up to Cathedral.

Girls Rugby 2016 consisted of 24 players and 3 coaches. Their season started in September and went all through the year preparing for Nationals. Although most were injured at one time or another throughout the season, the Penn Girls Rugby team pulled through to win the Division 2 National Champion award! With this outstanding achievement, these ladies have grown together as a team. Even though they lost a few games, they take from that and learn from their mistakes. The girls' favorite destination was the game in Missouri. Some advice from the Juniors is to just try the sport. Any size can play, and by the end of the year you will have a great big family by your side.

Players Spotlight

"Because of rugby I realize how strong I am and that I can become more strong, physically and mentally."
-Fernanda Arjona (11)

"Rugby is a game all about teamwork. To go forward you must go backwards."
-Tori Jones (11)

"I've learned to tackle my fears."
-Kathleen Gearheart (11)

"Rugby is a family. Everyone has their own role. It is such a supportive group of girls and I would not have it any other way."
-Rilee Taege (11)

Gooney Bird Greene

And Her True Life Adventures

On April 21 and 22, Penn Theatre took the stage yet again for their annual Children's Play. The show entitled Gooney Bird Greene and Her True Life Adventures is based off the children's novel, Gooney Bird Greene by Lois Lowry. The show takes place in a classroom and is centered around a young girl named Gooney Bird Greene who tells outlandish stories to her classmates that she swears are completely true, and the outcomes of her telling those stories are truly entertaining.

RIGHT: Caroline Carrier, 10, plays Gooney Bird and is telling a story to her class of open the play.

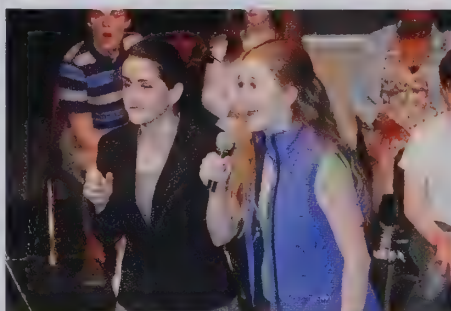

BELOW: A moving truck is shown to illustrate a story Gooney Bird is telling about her family having to move.

ABOVE: The entire cast walks in a choreographed circle to end the play.

ABOVE: One of the most creative elements of the show was its use of cardboard set pieces. They had several vehicles made of cardboard for easy use throughout the show.

After Gooney Bird Green, Penn Theatre recieved a warm welcome to their cast party complete with lights and decorations. Here the cast and crew are seen posing in front of a "Welcome Penn Theatre" sign.

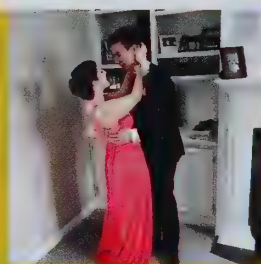

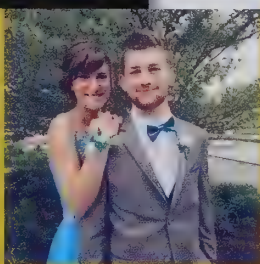

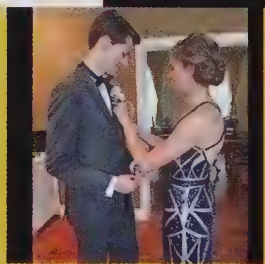

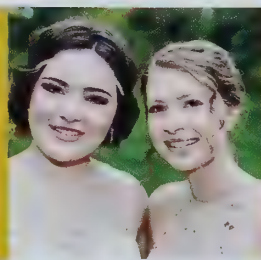

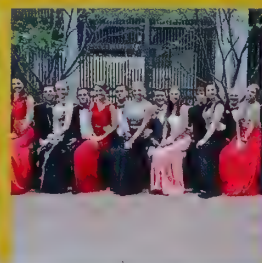

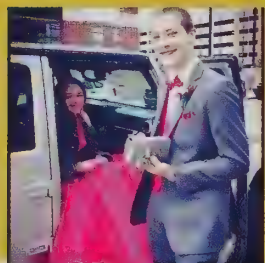

PENN PROM A NIGHT IN ATHENS

This year's Prom was not one to forget for the Junior & Senior class. With beautiful center pieces decorating the tables and Top Hits playing all night, the atmosphere was filled with anticipation for the announcement of Prom King and Queen by the end of the night. Whether it was playing Cards Against Humanity or sitting out on the patio, many memories were created the night of May 14th.

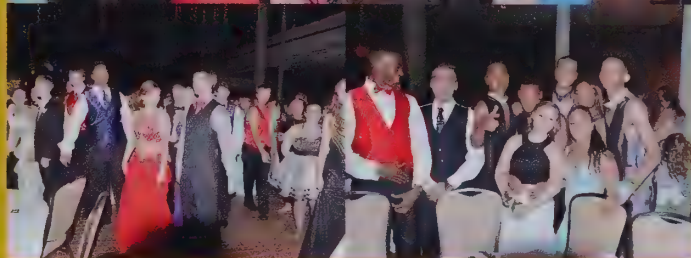

PRE PROM

Hair, Nails, Dress, Tux, Pictures & Dinner. Pre Prom is a culture of its own and this year was yet another of everyone getting ready to look stunning and show how good they can look.

Make Peace, Not War

Penn Stock 2016

Pennstock 2016 kicked off one beautiful morning during the last week of 2nd semester. Juniors in US History were super-hyped to finally be outside celebrating Penn's tradition of our own version of Woodstock that all started in 1969. Students created signs reflecting issues from the 60's: "Save the trees!" and "We Can Do It, Women Power!" Attired in fringe and tie-dye, Pennstock participants strolled around looking at the trifolds and signs highlighting different causes. The students manning the booths handed out trinkets like buttons, army men, bubbles, flower headbands, & arm bands. The excitement carried through with anti & pro-war speeches and 1960's songs! Some of the music consisted of "The Star Spangled Banner," "R.E.S.P.E.C.T.," "Rolling Down the River," "Sweet Caroline," "For What It's Worth," "Spirt In the Sky," & "Imagine." After many sunburns and peace sign tattoos, Pennstock 2016 left everyone with a new groovy mind set.

Left: Conner Newman, Carson Brown, and Isaac Loutzenhiser made signs to protect birds. Along with the hippy movement in this decade, there were also people trying their hardest to save the animals.

Brooke Anthony, Jalden Kuykendoll, Marley Beghtel, and Rachel Mirre repping Flower Power at Pennstock 2016!

Dance Classic - 25th Anniversary

"I look forward to meeting new people and learning new dance moves next year."
-Cailtyn Lee (9)

"What I will miss most about dance is my dance friends and class."
-Sana Shimizu (12)

The dance classes combine to put on an amazing show to wow the crowd.

"My favorite dance this year was modern because I got lifted this year and it was fun."

-Madeline Lasley (10)

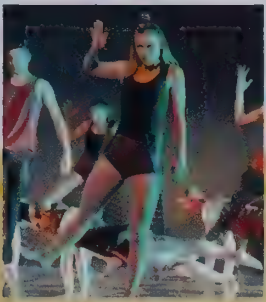

"The best part of dance is learning different dances and performing at the end of the year."

-Kelsey Funkhouser (10)

"I will take away the many dance skills and knowledge that my dance teacher has taught me throughout the years, and the many friendships that I have made in my time as a dance student. I will also take with me all of the fun memories I have from performing in the dance classic all four years. The performance is definitely something I am going to miss next year."

-Madison Freeman (12)

"A life lesson I learned from dance is to be flexible with things. Like being able to learn a part if someone hurts themselves or isn't there to dance."

"The Dance."

-Maddie Hendershot (12)

"Performing in front of the school is fun and scary at the same time because you're performing in front of people you know."

"Stompin' to the Beat."

-Erica Howard (9)

"My favorite dance was the Las Vegas dance because our outfits were cute and I liked the choreography."

"Crazy Train."

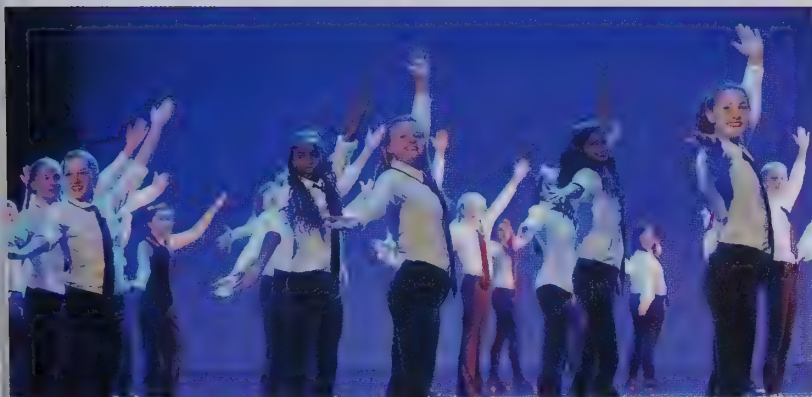

-Katelyn Harbin (10)

"I learned in dance how to communicate with a group of people."

"The Dance."

-Ashley Dieringer (12)

Modern

Pirouette

Tap

Penn dance classes have been working hard all school year to learn new techniques and moves to put together for the final dance performances.

Their theme this year was 25th Anniversary, to bring back previous dances. The teachers choreographed first years dances, second year dance choreographed modern and jazz, and third year choreographed modern. The dance classes packed the CPA full of friends and family and put on a great show. When asked what Mrs. Wolfe will miss the most about her dance classes, she replied with, "I will miss the bonds and personalities created in my dance classes."

Valedictorians

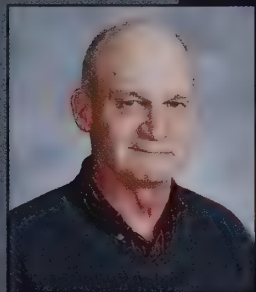

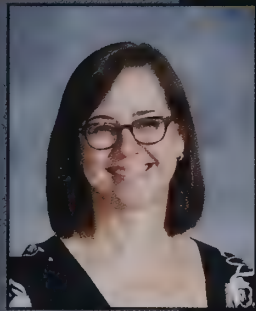

Graduation

May 27th, 2016. 57th Penn High School Commencement. Class of 2016 by the numbers...850 students...432 Academic Honors Diplomas...72 Technical Honors Diplomas...296 High Honors...$9 million in scholarships awarded...16 Valedictorians...3 Salutatorians...9 National Merit Scholar Finalists.

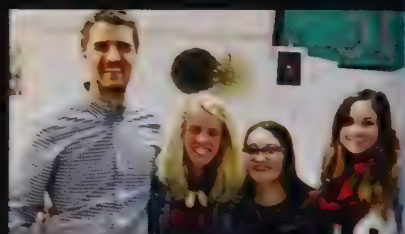

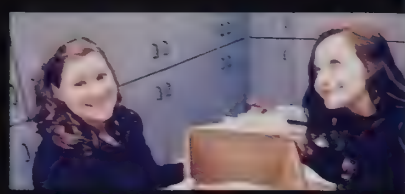

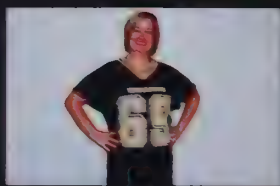

Staff Quote Matching

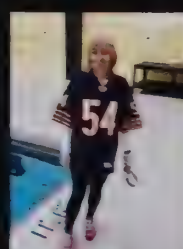

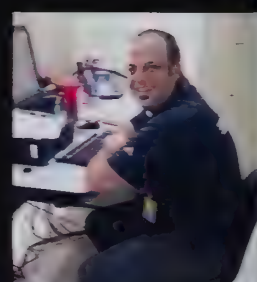

Our teachers have a sense of humor. Whether they are trying to get our attention, or responding to a comment, or just telling us a story, some of their lines are quite well known. We surveyed some Penn students for notable lines from our teachers, and this is what they gave us.

- 1.) "It's your world, I'm just living in it."
- 2.) "You've heard my train story, right?"
- 3.) "YOUR! LESSON! ISI! POSTED!"
- 4.) "Ooooo La La!"
- 5.) "So I kind of hit a deer on the way to school..."
- 6.) "You know, in a school appropriate way, I love you, right?"
- 7.) "Sharing isn't caring. Sharing is communist."
- 8.) "Go Penn!"
- 9.) "Schade schade schokolade."
- 10.) *not a quote. Just whistling in the halls.
- 11.) "Well, there, by the nondenominational holiday shrub..."
- 12.) "I've seen Springsteen live 89 times."

See You

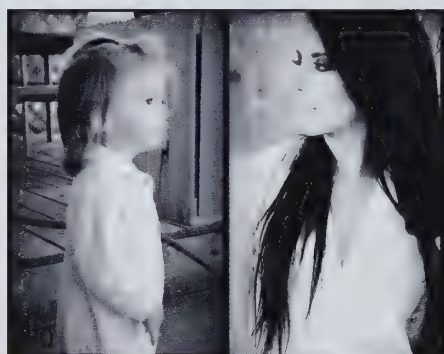

Alyssa Jewel Hunsberger
Class of 2016

"A thought can prompt. Words can stir. But it takes action to attain a dream." We have seen people with good intentions, but it is only those who put in the work that will get to see the finish line. We are very proud of you for finishing strong! Love, Mom

You are my sunshine, my only sunshine, you make me happy when skies are grey, You will never know Lyssie, how much I love you! Love Daddy

Sid Clark

We're proud for all that you are, all that you have been, and all that you have yet to be.

Love, Mom, Dad, Troy, Laura, Nana & Papa, Grandma & Grandpa

Congratulations! We are so proud of you!
Love Mom & Dad

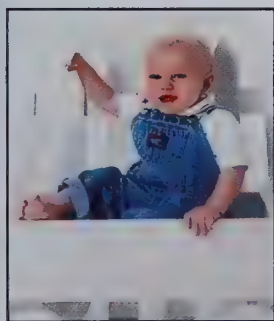

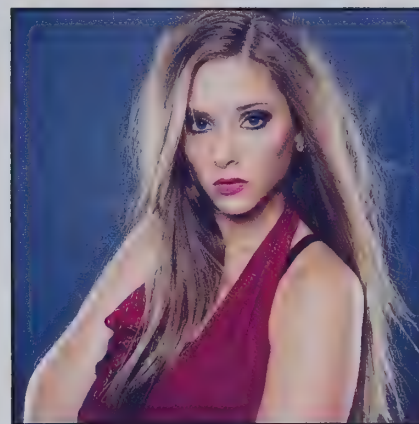

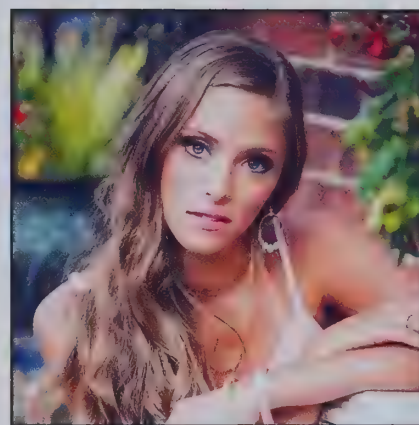

"Go confidently in the direction of your dreams. Live the life you've imagined."-Thoreau

Taylor Rachael Szabo

You are an amazing individual both inside and out. Mom, Dad and your entire family are so proud of the wonderful person you have become. Continue to be true to yourself and the world will be full of opportunities that are waiting for you. Hard work and dedication will lead you far in life, but don't forget to breathe and enjoy life's pleasures along your way. Your family will always be there for you wherever you are. We are your support, and encouragement with your every journey. We love you more than you could ever know. Congratulations, Sweetheart. Mom, Dad and Kennedy

Kyle Jordan Henke

We love you for all that you are, all that you have been and all that you're yet to be!

We are so very proud of the confident, caring and compassionate young man you have become.

We are excited to see where life's journey leads you!

Love you always,
Mom & Dad

Olivia Magaldi

My beautiful baby to my beautiful young girl.....I am always proud to be your mom. I have no doubt whatever you do, you will always hit it out of the park. Share your sparkle wherever you go!!!!

Love always,
Mom

Elizabeth Fleming

We are so proud of you, your accomplishments and who you have become. It seems like only yesterday you had your first day in kindergarten and now you are preparing for a new chapter of learning. Congratulations! Keep smiling, be lighthearted, happy and continue to learn. We wish you good luck in all you do.

We love you,
Mom, Dad, Katie and Ian.

Logan Coddens

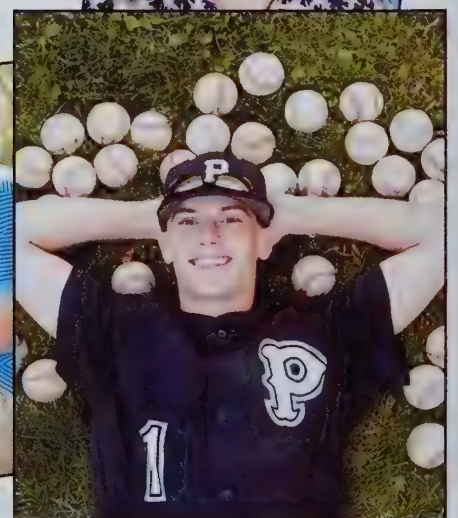

It seems like yesterday we were at your kindergarten graduation, and now you're graduating high school. We are so proud of you and love you very much! God bless you kiddo. - Mom and Dad

Brandon Stesiak

We are so proud of you and your accomplishments over the years. You will always be "#1 on the field and #1 in our hearts"!

We Love you!
Mom, Dad & Haley

Matthew George Kelly

Michael George Kelly

Michael and Matthew,

No one is more proud of your accomplishments and courage than your family. We are amazed daily and are excited to see what is in your fascinating future. Michael, you have the ability to touch someone's heart forever and make a huge difference in a person's life. Matthew, NO ONE is stronger and has more courage than you! You are truly a miracle! March 20, 1997, was a very happy day in the Kelly family!

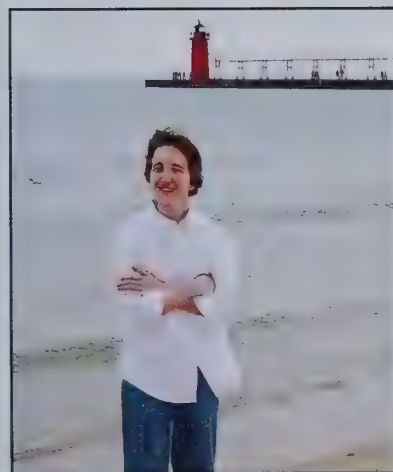

Always remember, "It's nice to be important but more important to be nice..."

"Your future doesn't lie ahead of you waiting to happen. It lies deep inside of you ready to be discovered."

"There are two ways to live your life. One is as though nothing is a miracle. The other is as though everything is a miracle." (Albert Einstein)

YOU are OUR miracles and we love you more than life itself !

CONGRATULATIONS

Jacob Michael Gefri

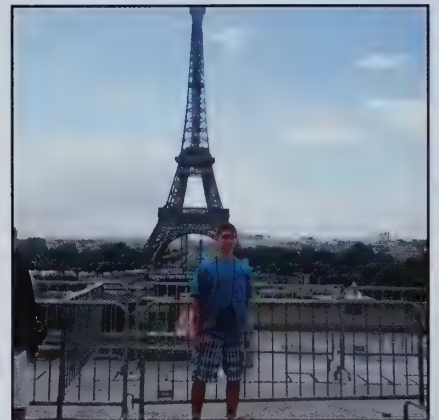

Jacob,

We are so proud of you and all of your accomplishments. Your future has no limits. While the road ahead of you may be long, enjoy the journey as you travel towards your destination.

Love,

Mom, Dad, Noah, Casper, and Riot

Parker Hart

You are loved for the little boy you were and the special man you have become. Always keep your passion, loyalty and caring heart. DREAM BIG- THE BEST IS YET TO COME!!!

Love Always,
Mom, Dad, Mal and Meg

Skyler Allberry

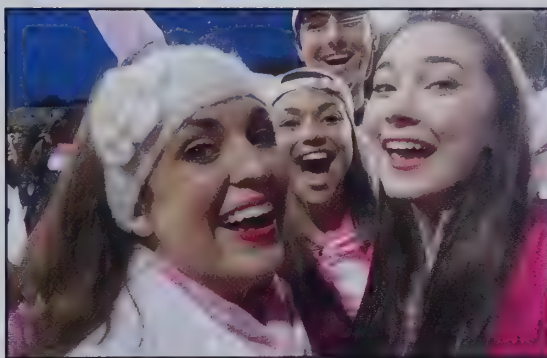

"The future belongs to those who believe in the beauty of their dreams."

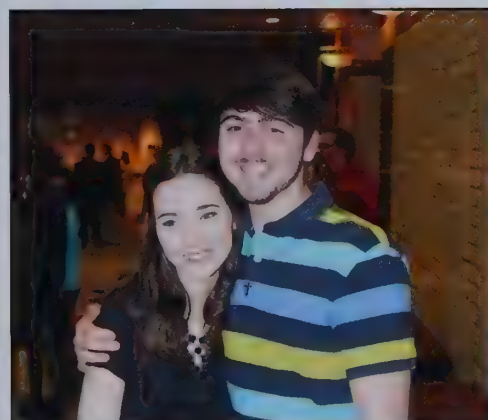

Eleanor Roosevelt

Congratulations on your graduation Skyler, we are so proud of the young lady you have become. Laugh often, dream big, and reach for the stars!!
Love, Dad, Linsey, Brett, Blake, and Brock

Rachel Page

We are so proud of the beautiful young lady you have become. Always focus on the Lord and walk in confidence.
Love, Mom and Dad

The logo for the Battle of the Bands 2016. It features a central shield divided into four quadrants, each containing a different musical instrument: a microphone, a drum set, a keyboard, and an electric guitar. The shield is surrounded by a laurel wreath. Above the shield, the words "BATTLE OF THE BANDS" are written in a stylized, arched font. Below the shield, a banner reads "WE WILL ROCK YOU". At the bottom of the logo, the year "2016" is displayed in large, bold, black numbers. Below the year, the text "Get a band together & 'MAKE SOME NOISE'." is written in a smaller font.
